

House Approves Immediate Cash Bonus Payment

Patman Measure Passed by Vote of 209 to 176

SENT TO SENATE

Amendment Permits Use Of Bonds if it is Necessary

Washington — (AP) — Immediate cash payment of the $2,400,000,000 soldiers bonus certificates—demanded by 20,000 former service men bivouacked in the capital—was approved today by the house.

The measure now goes to the senate where leaders claimed enough votes for rejection. President Hoover has promised a veto if the legislation reaches the White House.

The Patman bill passed by the house would redeem bonus certificates at their face value in new treasury notes distributed to the veterans through the federal reserve banks.

Before final approval, the measure was amended to provide an equal issue of government bonds to be used for retiring the currency if the dollar became too cheap.

Former service men packed the galleries as the vote was taken. It represented one step toward victory in their demand for the bonus legislation.

The bond amendment was recommended by former Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, and offered by Representative Ragon (D., Ark.) It was adopted 161 to 79.

Bonds in Reserve

The bonds would be issued along with the treasury notes for paying the bonus. They would be held in reserve at the federal reserve banks.

It would be the duty of the reserve board to sell enough of these bonds from time to time if necessary to prevent the purchasing power of the dollar from dropping more than 2 per cent below its 1926 level.

An amendment by Representative Griffin (D., N. Y.) to specify that the bonus be paid at a rate not to exceed $30 a month and only to the needy was defeated 110 to 80.

The vote for the bonus measure was 209 to 176.

Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) planned to ask for an immediate vote in the senate when the bill reached there from the house.

This would require unanimous consent to discontinue with the usual procedure of referring the bill to a committee, but leaders indicated they would accept the suggestion.

A single objection, however, would require the bill to be sent to the senate finance committee for study.

Dollar Triumphs As Europe's Long Gold Drain Ends

Bank of France Completes Conversion of Balances Into Gold

New York — (AP) — The dollar glided in victory today while the financial metropolis hailed the end of Europe's long drain on American gold.

The Bank of France converted the last of its dollar balances into gold yesterday for eventual lodgment in its own vaults. That meant America had successfully met all foreign demands on its gold supply, bankers said, and that the dollar had emerged a winner from the severe pressure ever imposed on a currency.

Thereupon there occurred in the foreign exchange market the strongest bull movement in dollars seen in many weeks. Bankers expressed satisfaction, seeing the removal of one of the principal factors leading to a lack of confidence in business and financial circles.

The bank of France's withdrawal from this market yesterday of $55,000,000 balances ended what was described as one of the most remarkable achievements in financial history—the repayment by the United States since 1929 of all but $700,000,000 of the $3,000,000,000 of short-term funds lodged in this market by foreign central banks, governments and private interests.

The heavy efflux started last September when the English pound sterling fell from the gold standard shocking confidence all over the world. Bankers said the feat of America in disgorging smoothly about $1,100,000,000 in monetary gold since September should root out any uncertainty over the strength of the dollar.

At the close of trading yesterday not a single foreign exchange was quoted above the point at which gold can be exported profitably from this country.

Doctor Orders Garner To Stay at His Hotel

Washington — (AP) — Speaker Garner, ill of bronchitis, continued today to have a little fever, leading to work tomorrow. Dr. George E. B. Smith, who is attending the 62-year-old Texan, told newspapermen:

"I'm not going to let him come back to work—if I can make him stay home—until his fever is gone."

He indicated the speaker might stay at his hotel until Monday. Garner was allowed to sit up today for about an hour.

McGillan Again Seeks Leadership of Legion

Green Bay — (AP) — James H. McGillan, prominent Green Bay attorney, will be a candidate for state commander of the Wisconsin department of the American legion at the annual convention at LaCrosse, Aug. 15 to 17, it was announced today. McGillan was formally endorsed for the office at the regular meeting of Sullivan post here last night.

McGillan was one of the organizers of the legion in Wisconsin and in addition to serving three terms as commander of Sullivan post, served as national executive committee member and held various state appointments besides that of chairman of the naval affairs committee of the national organization. During the World War he was legal advisor to Capt. W. A. Moffett, commandant at Great Lakes. He was a candidate for the state office last year at Chippewa Falls but withdrew in favor of Dr. R. A. Dawson, River Falls, present state commander.

Approves Extension of Time to Make Claims

Washington — (AP) — President Hoover today signed a joint resolution extending for one year the time within which American claimants may make application for payment under the Settlement of War Claims act of 1928 of awards of the mixed claims commission and of the tripartite claims commission.

Curtis Not to Be Placed on G. O. P. Ticket

Lawrence Convinced Vice President Won't Be Renominated at Chicago

NO OUTRIGHT REPEAL

But Dry Law Plank to Be Virtually a Substitute for 18th Amendment

Chicago — (AP) — Opposition to Charles Curtis dwindled today as word rapidly spread on the convention floor that Charles G. Dawes would not accept the vice presidential nomination.

From many quarters it was generally conceded the Kansan's friends would have little difficulty now in getting him the nomination. Even Texas, which took the initiative in supporting Dawes, virtually conceded that with Dawes' statement in Washington, Curtis would be named.

Washington — (AP) — Charles Gates Dawes in a formal statement today said he could not accept the Republican nomination for the vice presidency if it were offered him.

The former vice president, who concludes today his tenure of office as president of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, said he had given the question of the vice presidency "considerable thought."

He made the statement at his home in the Willard hotel personally telephoning it to the Associated Press.

"The situation in the convention as to the vice presidential nomination, as reported by the press this morning, would seem to call for a more explicit statement of my attitude," Mr. Dawes said. "To have been considered for this nomination is a high honor and I appreciate the profers of support. I have given the question considerable thought. I could not accept the nomination if made."

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Stadium, Chicago — Two things are certain thus far in the Republican convention. One is that Charles Curtis will not be renominated. The other is that a platform plank proposing repeal of the eighteenth amendment alone will not be adopted. But that a plank which proposes virtually a substitute for the eighteenth amendment will be approved by the convention.

The vice presidential situation is just a spontaneous affair that settles itself the moment the delegates begin to think how to strengthen their party ticket.

The prohibition plank cannot be so easily settled, but it must be born in mind that this convention will renominate Herbert Hoover, hence what his lieutenants here say and insist upon, is final. The convention is in a mood to accept administration advice.

The outright repealers will have their say in the debate and will be

Danish Explorer Sails For Work in Greenland

Copenhagen, Denmark — (AP) — Doctor Laue Koch, one of Denmark's most daring explorers, sailed today with the first of several expeditions which will continue this country's scientific work in Greenland this summer.

With him is a large staff of young scientists and veteran Greenland explorers. Their two ships are 40 years old, the Gustav Holm, 217 tons, and the Godthaab, 162 tons, both heavily built to withstand the ice-pressure.

In a few days the Danish cruiser Hvidbjerg will follow with airplanes for the expedition. Prince Knud, younger son of the king, is second in command of the cruiser.

Couple Evicted from Home Camps on Street

Superior — (AP) — Evicted from their home for failure to pay rent, Peter Ketchum and his wife camped in the street in front of the house today.

Ketchum erected a tent and said he and his wife planned to live in it until aid comes to him in some way. He has not worked for nearly two years, he said. The tent was erected on a small parkway between the sidewalk and the street border.

Hindenburg Signs Decree Lifting Ban on Hitlerites

Berlin — (AP) — President von Hindenburg today signed an emergency decree raising the ban which the Brüning government placed on the National Socialist storm troops, but its text will not be published until tomorrow and it will not become effective until Friday.

It was disclosed several days ago that the president had prepared the decree and last night, as a forerunner, the government revoked its predecessor's ruling which denied Adolf Hitler's party the use of the German broadcasting system. Gregor Strasser, one of the Nazi leaders, broadcast a speech outlining the familiar aims of Hitler's party.

Today there were indications that the Nazis will not have all the freedom they would like even when the ban on the storm troops is lifted. They expected to have a big uniformed demonstration next Sunday at Templehof of airfield but this afternoon the Berlin police let it be known that the general veto on all open air political demonstrations still stands.

Likewise the Bavarian government pointed out that long before the issue of a general ban on uniforms of all kinds. The government intimated that it could not guarantee order within the state if the Nazis were permitted to wear their uniforms.

NAZIS BREAK WINDOWS

Munich, Bavaria — (AP) — Nazi troops protested a government refusal to permit the Bavarian Radio corporation to broadcast last night's speech of Gregor Strasser by hurling rocks through the windows of the residence of Premier Heinrich Strasser spoke in Berlin outlining the aims of the Hitler organization.

Delegates Parade and Cheer As Snell Praises President; Dry Law Battle on Tonight

Sees "Salvation of U. S. in Solidarity of Party"

Snell Charges Lack of Team Work Makes Foes Weak

Chicago — (AP) — Representative Bertrand H. Snell, permanent chairman of the Republican national convention, told its delegates today that the solidarity of their party in "this crisis means the salvation of the United States." The New Yorker alternated denunciation of the Democrats and praise of President Hoover but like Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, in the keynote speech yesterday, he did not mention as it followed the actual responsibility of conducting the government.

"By long trial in the actual responsibility of conducting the government," Snell said, "the Republican party has become capable of governing."

He asserted that outside the Republican party is "confusion and chaos," adding "the only sound and united public sentiment of the United States is represented in this convention."

In support of charges that the Democratic party is "fatally weak" because it is "utterly lacking in team work," Snell referred to the house of representatives of which he is minority leader.

Placed in control there, he said, the opposition did well enough as long as the president was in power but once they "set out to carry forward their own program they exhibited colossal incapacity, hopeless division and disintegration with the result that there was a complete collapse of their party machinery."

"The Democratic party is a mob of feud and factions," he continued, "unable to bring order out of chaos in its own ranks. How can it be expected to maintain order in government?"

Then followed: "If this country is to be governed with judgment and prudence, the Republican party must do the job."

Probe Begun in Suicide of Girl

Funeral Services Conducted Today in New Jersey For Violet Sharpe

Englewood, N. J. — (AP) — Violet Sharpe, English servant girl in the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, was buried today while the British government started an investigation to find out what was behind the terror that drove her to suicide last Friday as police waited to question her about the Lindbergh baby kidnapping.

Gerald Shepherd, acting British consul general, attended the funeral and then went to the Morrow estate for a conference with Arthur Springer, who was the late Senator Morrow's secretary and who is representing Mrs. Morrow in this matter.

Mrs. Morrow has expressed the belief the girl had not guilty knowledge of the kidnapping and that she was "frightened to death" by persistent police questioning.

Shepherd said today his report would be conservative and would be ready in about a week. He had already sent to London, he said, American newspaper accounts of the suicide, and added that his report would be accompanied by editorials from American papers.

Wild Rose Farmer Is Killed by Own Truck

Oshkosh — (AP) — Owen Hughes, 35, farmer near Wild Rose, Wis., died at a hospital here Tuesday afternoon as a result of injuries sustained on his farm Monday when he was run over by his own truck.

Attempting to dislodge the machine from a spot where it had become stalled with the aid of a team of horses, Hughes was pinned against the roof of a fallen tree when the truck motor started and the machine bore down upon him suddenly. He sustained abdominal injuries.

Racket to Get Funds From Jobless Assailed

Washington — (AP) — A new racket, one designed to squeeze a few dollars from the slender funds of the jobless, today drew the fire of the United States Civil Service commission in a warning against schools selling courses of "coaching" for civil service examinations.

The commission said schools which sell coaching courses were accepting money under false pretenses and that one such purveyor had been indicted in Iowa and other indictments were expected.

"Money paid for civil service courses at this time might almost as well be thrown to the four winds," the commission said in explaining that in most cases where vacancies occur there is already a long list of eligible candidates for the job or it is filled by transfer or reinstatement of those who have been in the service. Examinations, it said, are rarely held.

May Protest Action of Polish Ship at Danzig

Free City of Danzig — (AP) — The Polish destroyer Wicher steamed into this port today and dropped her anchor without first having obtained permission for entry from the Danzig senate as is provided by international agreement. It was expected that the senate would file a protest with the league of nations. Vessels of the British fleet also are in the harbor but the people of Danzig received them with great cordiality.

New Flagpole Dedicated By Civil War Veterans

Waukesha — (AP) — A gift of six allied Wisconsin societies, a 125-foot steel flagpole, yesterday was dedicated at Cushing Memorial park as a part of the annual G. A. R. encampment.

About 1,000 persons joined the hundred or so Civil War veterans in the ceremony. Members of the Betsy Ross tent of the Milwaukee Daughters of Union Veterans, presented a new flag which was unfurled on the pole.

Opposition Gains at Newfoundland Polls

St. John's, N. F. — (AP) — Two more seats were added today to the opposition total in Saturday's general election. The additions gave to the party headed by F. C. Alderdice a total of 23 seats. The government party, headed by Premier Sir Richard Squires, had only two seats, the independent one, and one, White Bay, remained to be heard from.

Will Not Run

Chicago Stadium — (AP) — With a new show of confidence, the Hoover lieutenants steered the Republican convention unfavorably today through a second session which raised enthusiasm to the peak of a 20-minute demonstration for the president.

In old-time fashion, delegates from every state paraded their banners to the tune of "California, Here I Come," singing and clapping their hands, laughing and yelling, determined, it seemed, to leave no doubt that this is a Hoover convention.

Then they got through some routine business and adjourned until 8 p. m. when the battle over a prohibition plank is to go to the floor and probably sweep on far into the night.

It was a mention of the president's name by Congressman Snell of New York, in his inaugural as permanent chairman of the convention, which set off the Hoover fireworks. After quiet was restored, Snell went on with a speech hammering the Democrats in picturesque phrase and a praising Republicanism in rounded periods that broke the big stadium crowd into repeated cheering.

The whirling, pushing throng was led by Gov. Rolph of Mr. Hoover's own state, holding high the California flag. One after another, Illinois, last of all, the delegations put their state standards into the yelling parade. Wisconsin Hoover men jubilant to be in the majority in their state after years of defeat, handed their standard to the speaker's platform, and National Chairman Fess waved it high for all to see.

It was the first touch of life since the big show opened yesterday. The delegates seemed to enjoy it immensely, and settled back in their seats afterward smiling and interested as Snell went on with the session which made up most of the proceedings at the morning session.

Actual Reports

The morning session was a ratification of the work of several committees. It all went off with dispatch. Even a credentials report settling the explosive controversy over southern leadership, and excluding the veteran "Tieless Joe" Tolbert of South Carolina from the convention, was adopted without a word of debate or a roll call.

Meanwhile, over in the politicians' conference rooms of the Congress hotel on Michigan, the platform committee still wrestled with prohibition, but nearing the end of its road. It promised a tentative plank would be ready for distribution to state delegations during the afternoon.

The vice presidency remained as much up in the air as ever, although the second renunciation by Charles G. Dawes started at least a momentary upturn in the stock of Vice President Curtis.

Await Dry Law Plan

The Republican prohibition row neared the convention floor late today with the administration forces concentrating on a modified plan for submission of the dispute to the people.

A submission declaration emerged safely from the administration-controlled resolutions subcommittee, but it promptly encountered an attack by the repeal advocates under Senator Bingham of Connecticut.

The convention adjourned until 8 o'clock and will shortly afterward plunge into the floor fight definitely threatened over prohibition.

Later Chairman Fess obtained consent of the committee to take up the prohibition issue out of order to assure distribution of copies of the resubmission plank by 6 p. m.

He announced the convention would settle the issue tonight and

Dolly Gann Fighting for Renomination of Curtis

Old Strife Renewed When Alice Longworth Enters Lists at Chicago

Chicago — (AP) — One thing was clear through all the foginess of the vice-presidential situation today: Something will be heard from stalwart Dolly Gann should anything happen to her brother, Charles Curtis.

However potent may be "Princess Alice" Longworth's reported maneuvering in the Down-with-Curtis movement, it doesn't take a thumbug to tell how Dolly likes it. Nor to see that the very presence of the social-precedence opponent of the vice-presidential hostess hasn't slowed the tempo of Mrs. Gann's campaign.

Arriving, she tossed off suggestions of a successor for her brother with a single fighting gesture. Today Mrs. Gann was ceaselessly conferring with the leaders—and yesterday she held a levee for women delegates and committeewomen and put to many of them the blunt question, "how's yours" meaning state delegation.

This little matter was the leading feminine bid for attention as the rank and file went to the second convention-day's doings.

Women went before the resolutions committee far into the early hours to press many causes, "his true. A woman, Dr. Martha Robert Deland of Porto Rico, sat on that committee for the first time in history—sat as a militant feminist and a convinced re-submissionist.

But how could these compare with the Gann-Longworth matter?

The story going the convention rounds is that Teddy Roosevelt's daughter suggested skids for the Indian vice president—and incidentally wouldn't object to seeing her own brother, Teddy, Jr., on the national ticket.

Find Man Guilty of Drunken Driving

Martin Alberts, Apple Creek, to Be Sentenced This Afternoon

Martin Alberts, Apple Creek, was found guilty by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court yesterday afternoon of drunken driving. Sentence is to be passed this afternoon. In the meantime he is being held in the county jail.

Alberts was arrested shortly before noon last Saturday at Freedom by Edward Vandenberg, the Freedom town constable. People living near the village had telephoned the sheriff's office saying that a man was driving in an erratic manner toward Freedom. The sheriff's office notified Constable Vandenberg and he placed Alberts under arrest.

The Apple Creek man was held at the county jail since Saturday. He was arraigned late Saturday, pleading not guilty.

Veteran Near Death in Assault by Marauder

Oakland, Calif. — (AP) — Harry A. Nelson, deputy county assessor and a member of the famed "Lost Battalion" during the World War, lay near death today, his skull fractured by a marauder who bludgeoned him as he lay in bed.

Police said Claude Forbes, 25, who allegedly eloped May 30 with Nelson's estranged wife, had confessed he clubbed Nelson yesterday for "revenge." The asserted confession quoted Forbes as saying he attacked Nelson because he "mistreated his wife."

Police said they also were examining the possibility Forbes hoped to make possible the collection of Nelson's $10,000 government insurance.

Forbes' wife, Mrs. Muriel Forbes, has been employed at the Nelson home as housekeeper for the last three months. She said she was glad to get rid of her husband because he "never had a job."

Mrs. Nelson and Forbes, who police said were found in a Santa Cruz hotel, were both brought to Oakland for further questioning.

Party Committee Firm On Relief Bond Issue

Washington — (AP) — The special Democratic unemployment relief committee of the senate today decided to stand firm behind its proposal for a $500,000,000 public works bond issue, to which President Hoover is opposed.

The committee met to consider proposals for eliminating the controversial bond issue feature of their two billion dollar program, in order to expedite its consideration but decided not to compromise.

The group decided to ask the senate to take the bill up tomorrow or Friday. It is expected at that time an amendment will be offered by administration senators to strike the bond issue section from the bill.

Four Southern Party Contests Brought to End

Credentials Committee at Convention Concludes Its Activities

Chicago—(AP)—A resounding rebuke to nine LaFollette members of the Wisconsin delegation and settlement of four vigorously debated southern contests ended the work early today of the credentials committee of the Republican national committee.

The charge against the LaFollette faction was that the nine committed a form of party treason by keeping their seats on the convention floor at the mention of President Hoover's name and also during a parade of flags.

Sixteen conservative members of the Wisconsin group gladly presented a resolution censuring the Progressives for their action. Frank J. Schneller of Neenah, being the spokesman. It was approved unanimously.

Indicative as it might be of strong feeling, this action did not have the finality of the denial of seats to a South Carolina delegation headed by the grizzled politician, "Fireless Joe" Tolbert.

The administration pressed its opposition to him and won despite his 20 years as national committeeman but the delegation from Mississippi headed by Perry Howard, Negro, also administration opposed but not so vigorously, was seated.

Tolbert, who was read out of the party by President Hoover three years ago on charges of abusing patronage privileges, had won in the national committee. The credentials group overturned that decision by a vote of 34 to 15, and seated J. C. Hambright and his followers.

Tolbert interpreted the vote as a "slap in the face" for the national committee as well as himself and hoped some one on the committee would lay his case before the convention. However, the national committeeman, also had been accused of misbehaving patronage, but the action of the national committee in seating his delegation over that headed by Lamont Rowlands was sustained by 32 to 5.

Race Question Involved

The race question was brought sharply to the fore in this contest. The Negro Republican leader denied he had sold federal offices, and contended his organization was as "regular as the multiplication table."

The Rowlands contesting group, an all-white delegation, said they would not carry their fight before the convention.

Walter Newton, secretary to President Hoover and Minnesota member of the credentials committee, and Robert Taft of Ohio, led the opposition to Tolbert. But they stayed out of the Howard-Rowlands battle.

In two other full state contests, the credentials committee sustained the national committee in seating the Georgia delegation headed by James W. Arnold, national committeeman, and the Louisiana delegation captained by Ernest Lee Jahncie, assistant secretary of the navy and national committeeman.

Throughout the eight-hour argument in the stuffy, smoke-filled committee room in the Congress hall, the quadrangle cry of "fifty-whites" was raised by the Negroes involved. The whites responded with pleas for southern party harmony and denied any effort to freeze out the "black and tans" from party activity.

Appleton Man Gets Six-Month Term for Dry Law Violation

Rudolph Fischer, proprietor of a soft drink parlor at 906 S. Oneida-st., was fined $250 and sentenced to six months in the house of correction at Milwaukee by Judge F. A. Geiger in federal court at Milwaukee yesterday afternoon.

On a charge of possession and sale of intoxicating liquors, Fischer was one of 12 defendants who were sentenced yesterday.

Fischer's place was raided recently by a squad of federal prohibition officers from Milwaukee and a quantity of alleged whisky, gin and beer was confiscated. Fischer immediately pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned before a federal court commissioner and his case was referred to the federal court in Milwaukee for sentence. He is to start serving his term at once.

OPENING OF REPUBLICAN CONVENTION IN CHICAGO

The opening session of the 1932 Republican Convention in Chicago's mammoth stadium is pictured here. Chairman Simeon D. Fess of the Republican National Committee called the convention to order from the speaker's platform. Delegates from the various states are seated in the arena directly in front of him, while the three balconies have seats for 22,000 spectators.

Outlines History Of Purification Of Water Supply

Operation of Appleton Plant Also Described

By W. U. Gallaher

The history of the development of new processes in the purification of water, and a description of the processes used in the Appleton water plant, were given by W. U. Gallaher, superintendent of the Appleton water plant, in an address, The Water We Drink, at the meeting of Rotary club at Hotel Northern Tuesday noon.

The speaker told how ancient cities were built along rivers or streams, so there would be an adequate supply of water. How Rome built aqueducts to secure unpolluted mountain water, and how as early as the fourth century B. C. water was boiled to purify it. The filtration of water, for the prevention of disease, came in 1890, he explained, after the epidemic of Asiatic cholera in Hamburg, Germany. Altona, using the same water from the Elbe river as was drunk in Hamburg, saved itself from the cholera plague by purifying the water through filtration. The first type of filter was of sand bed, and then rapid sand filtration with the use of chemicals came into use.

The first method of aeration was the cascade type, suggested, the speaker said, by the knowledge that the water of a river purifies itself through contact with air, especially when the water cascades over a falls. Next came the bubbler type, which pumped air through the water, and then the spray aerator, used at the local plant during the summer. The spray aerator breaks the water into small drops, thus giving the water more air surface.

The process of sedimentation also was suggested by the knowledge of rivers that sediment in river water settles to the bottom. In some cities, where water is particularly dirty, the water is drained through large reservoirs. In Appleton the process starts with the use of alum, which coagulates the suspended matter in the water. After this drops to the bottom of the basins, the water is put through sand filters, a system of sand, gravel and pipes. The dirt which accumulates on the sand bed is removed through the influx of pure water. From two or three per cent of each day's filtered water is used in cleaning the sand beds, Mr. Gallaher said.

Chlorine, which kills the bacteria, has been in use since 1910. The average dose at the local plant is one-tenth of an ounce per thousand gallons of water. The treatment of water with carbon, to remove tastes and odors, was inaugurated in 1929. The carbon, made from waste paper stock or coal and treated with steam, absorbs gases such as chlorine, tastes and odors.

Mr. Gallaher described the local plant, performed some experiments with alum and carbon, and spoke briefly of the growing importance of the purification section of the American Water Works association.

Miss Ziegenhagen to Seek Sixth Term as Outagamie Treasurer

Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer and Raymond E. Voigt, 121 E. College-ave, today took out nomination papers at the office of John E. Hantsch, county clerk. Miss Ziegenhagen will seek reelection, while Voigt will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for clerk of courts in opposition to Sydney M. Shannon, incumbent. Shannon has already announced his candidacy for reelection.

Miss Ziegenhagen was first elected to office in 1922. She now is serving her fifth consecutive term in office. Previous to her election to this job she was manager of Willys mill here for 17 years.

Voigt two years ago was a candidate for treasurer.

Testimony Continues In $5,000 Damage Suit

Testimony was still being taken in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg this morning in the suit for damages of $5,000, brought by John Anderson, Appleton, against Charles Zahrt, also of Appleton. Testimony was started yesterday. It is expected the jury will retire late this afternoon or early tomorrow. Anderson asks damages for injuries received on Sept. 20, 1931, when the coal wagon he was driving east on Wisconsin-ave and a car driven by Zahrt collided. Anderson claims he was thrown to the ground and the wheels of the wagon passed over him, breaking an arm and a leg. He charges Zahrt's careless and negligent driving caused the accident. Zahrt denies liability.

Power Boat Men Plan Association

Preliminary Plans for Organization Outlined at Oshkosh Meeting

Preliminary plans for organization of the Fox River Valley Power Boat Men's association, including the formulation of a constitution and by-laws, were discussed at a meeting of representatives from various boating and yacht clubs at the Universal Motor Co. plant at Oshkosh Tuesday evening. Dr. A. L. Koch, representative of the Appleton Yacht club, attended the meeting. He was among those who were nominated to the board of directors and served on the committee which last night drew the constitution and prepared the by-laws. Directors, who later will elect officers to the valley association are as follows: Oscar Mueller, Joseph Rupp, Pierce Percall, Ford du Lac, Dr. Koch and Judge Fred V. Heinemann, Appleton; George Savage and Arthur Schroeder, Oshkosh; and Jack Kimberly and Mowry Smith, Neenah.

Membership in the valley association will be open to clubs and individual members from Appleton, Neenah, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac. Final plans for the association will be made at the first annual valley cruise to be held on Tuesday, June 21.

Final arrangements for the valley cruise were made at last night's meeting. The Appleton delegation on a cruise owned by Dr. Koch, Judge Heinemann, James Martin, William Storm and Martin Van Ryzin, and Arthur Jones, will sail on to Lake Winnebago where they will be met by the Neenah cruisers. Together the boats will sail for Oshkosh where they are to be met by the Fond du Lac and Oshkosh organizations.

After the cruise on the lake, the cruises will embark for the beautiful Oshkosh Power Boat club's house on Lake Butte des Morts for the evening program. Frank Keefe, Winnebago-co district attorney, will be the principal speaker, and Frank Joslyn, Oshkosh will be toastmaster.

Committee Discusses Medical Care for Poor

Medical care for sick and injured indigents was discussed at a joint meeting of the poor committee with the public relations committee of the Outagamie County Medical society at a meeting at city hall Tuesday evening. A member of the medical society committee will appear before the gathering of Fox River Valley poor commissioners at city hall Thursday.

Herman Schneider, mailing division clerk at the Appleton post office, left Wednesday on a 15-day vacation. With his family he will leave in a day or two for a trip to Canada and Niagara Falls.

DANCE PARBOY THURS.

Approves Rebuke Administered to LaFollette Men

Conservatives Angered by "Party Treason" at G. O. P. Convention

Chicago—(AP)—Action of the 16 conservative Republican delegates from Wisconsin in protesting acts of 9 LaFollette Progressive delegates, which were termed "un-American and unpatriotic," was approved late last night by the credentials committee of the Republican National committee.

The conservatives became incensed yesterday when at the opening session of the convention, the Progressives did not rise to their feet when the American flag was unfurled, simultaneously with the keynote speaker's mention of President Hoover's name. At an informal conference of conservative delegates, the LaFollette followers were termed traitors and Bolsheviks.

The incident on the convention floor followed on the heels of the furore at Monday night's caucus, when Progressives voted negatively on a resolution pledging individual support to the convention's presidential nominee and platform.

No attempt was made to unseat Progressive members of the delegation, although a number of conservatives declared such a movement would be propitious at this time. Other members of the delegation felt that such action would mean the Progressives to claim they had been "crucified" by the conservative faction.

The question of expulsion of the Progressives was discussed thoroughly at yesterday's informal meeting, eventually a committee of three composed of Levi Bancroft, United States attorney for the Eastern Wisconsin district; George W. Anderson, Kenosha, and W. J. Campbell, Oshkosh, was appointed to draft a statement which later was presented to the convention credentials committee.

The statement follows: "We, the Republican members of the Wisconsin delegation to the national convention at Chicago, submit the following: "On Monday evening June 13 at the regularly called and held meeting of the Wisconsin delegation, the following resolution was introduced: "Resolved, that the individual members of this delegation, elevated as Republicans to the national Republican convention which will open tomorrow in Chicago should and will individually and collectively support the nominations and the platform made by the majority vote and action of the delegates to the national Republican convention, and we hereby pledge our support to the nominee of the party in the forthcoming election."

"The LaFollette Progressive members, nine in number, being all present by record vote, voted 'no' to this resolution.

"The regular Republican members, 16 in number, all voted 'yes' by record vote and the resolution was passed.

"On Tuesday morning at the opening session of the convention when the temporary chairman of the convention mentioned the name of the president of the United States and the national colors were paraded, including the flag of the president, these LaFollette Progressives from Wisconsin kept their seats and refused to stand when all the delegates and spectators had arisen to their feet in their customary tribute to the national colors and the president of the United States.

"We, the regular Republican delegates and alternates to this convention, unanimously condemn this

Party's Plank on Dry Law Crowds Other Big Issues

Great National Problems Almost Ignored Compared With Prohibition

Chicago—(AP)—Seventeen weary men in a historic room were framing as the new day came their answer to the major problem on the 20th national Republican convention—a prohibition plank acceptable to most of the wets and most of the dries.

Even before the administration dominated resolutions committee had turned the actual task of writing the tentative platform over to the carefully selected sub-committee it was known that some form of prohibition resubmission was in mind.

Weighing words as carefully as nuggets, the sub-committee chose its language after an exhaustive all night discussion which was still under way long after traffic in the streets outside had begun a steady rumble.

Parleying for days, administration forces made concessions in the hours just before the sub-committee began the actual drafting to come of the more liberal prohibition leaders.

The administration does not desire—never has desired—a split with the bulk of those who believe the 18th amendment should stay embedded in the constitution. Moreover President Hoover has declared against its repeal. Voices have constantly vibrated over a private line leading to the White House since the delegates began to arrive. Hundreds of miles away, Mr. Hoover still controls.

The immediate goal of the sub-committee was approval of the full platform committee of the convention, representing every state and outlying possession of the nation.

Both arrests were made by Lester Van Roy, motorcycle officer.

un-American and unpatriotic action of the LaFollette Progressive members of the Wisconsin delegation and we wish to be put on record with our brother Republicans from everywhere to this effect."

Frank J. Schneller, Neenah, presented the statement to the national credentials committee. Conservatives voted unanimously to support Charles G. Dawes for the vice presidency, approving the following resolution yesterday: "The Wisconsin delegation, fully realizing the service and ability of Vice President Curtis, nevertheless feels that as a running mate for President Hoover, our section of the country would be pleased to see Charles G. Dawes drafted as the nominee for vice president."

"His outstanding ability would greatly strengthen the ticket."

THE KEYNOTE SPEECH

Chicago, Ill.—In the production of his speech Senator Dickinson was obviously determined that he would at all costs sound a triumphant keynote. This compelled him to omit all reference to the two-car garage and all explanations as to why after eleven years of Republican rule quote "our nation is in the midst of its most perilous economic crisis" unquote. The Senator just jumped right into the midst of the crisis, and then devoted his energies to asserting that every act of Mr. Hoover's has been superb.

The historians admit that even Abraham Lincoln made a few mistakes, but if the Senator's story is to be believed Herbert Hoover has been invincibly right from start to finish. Such infallibility has not previously been known on earth, and when Mr. Hoover has this speech called to his attention by one of his secretaries he will feel either that the speech is nonsense or that the office of President of the United States is a paltry thing for one who has such cosmic genius.

A good sample of the quality of this speech is to be had by looking at what this official spokesman for the Republican party had to say on a subject still being debated in Congress: public works as a means of relieving unemployment. Discussing the early days of the depression Senator Dickinson pointed with pride to the fact that quote "Congress, under Republican leadership, patriotically cooperated by increasing appropriations for public improvements of all character and by making available additional sums for road building" unquote and that quote "the President enlisted the cooperation of the states and their subdivisions in extending the public construction program of highway improvements" unquote. All of this spending was done under Republican auspices. The Senator acclaimed it as a great achievement.

But about fifteen minutes later he reached that section of his speech where he had to denounce the Democrats and there he pointed with horror to the Democrats who quote "proposed billions in bond issues for unnecessary and unproductive public works" unquote. When the Republicans spent money in 1932 quote "upwards of a million persons, who would otherwise have been idle, were given gainful employment" unquote. When the Democrats proposed to spend money in 1932 they were acting on the theory that you can quote proverbial lick and promise by comparison to the study bestowed on the liquor compromise. Newspaper men, lounging outside the room where the aroused followers of Theodore Roosevelt decided to leave the tent of regular republicanism in 1912, also centered their speculation on prohibition. The word will always be association with the Republican convention of 1932.

To have remembered that the national unity has been, is, and will for some time continue to be, of supreme importance in a program of relief and recovery and reconstruction the authors of this address would have had to possess vision and magnanimity. They had neither. There is not one syllable in it to indicate that they recognize the misery of today is the result of the mistakes of yesterday. There is not one syllable which indicates an interest in a more decent future. There is not one syllable which is concerned with anything except the assertion of the infallibility of Herbert Hoover.

That in the last analysis is what made the speech sound so foolish and so dull. For people listen eagerly to anything which throws light upon their fate and the fate of the nation. But at this particular moment nobody is interested in the effort of the Republicans to superman. For everybody knows that there have not been any supermen in this troubled generation and when the orators and publicists experts try to create one they create much boredom punctuated here and there by ribald laughter.

Enough Red In American Flag-Keller

City Observes Flag Day at Band Concert—Elks
Sponsor Program

"There's enough red in the American flag—I want no red without the white and blue," Gustav J. Keller, Sr., told Appleton people attending the band concert last night at Pierce park as Appleton observed Flag day. The program was sponsored by the Elks club.

"June 14, Flag day, was set aside by Congress as a day on which we should pause in our labors and give thought, attention and study to the symbol of our nation," he said.

"The American flag is the oldest symbol of any nation in the world. Many flags and pennants existed for years previous, but the American flag was the first adopted by law by a country as its symbol."

Mr. Keller then traced the history of the flag. He recalled for his audience that the various colonies had their own flag for many years, Massachusetts having a pine tree on it, South Carolina a rattlesnake, Rhode Island a white flag with a blue anchor. The rattle snake flag was the most popular for a long time. This flag also bore the words "Don't Tread On Me."

"When the colonies began sending armies to fight in the Revolution there was much confusion because of the many flags and General George Washington finally demanded that Congress should unite on some flag which all the states would recognize. A committee consisting of Washington, Robert Morris and Col. Ross was named and it sought the advice of Betsy Ross, wife of John Ross, a Revolutionary soldier.

"She suggested a field of blue with 13 stars in a circle, the five pointed star of France being chosen in preference to the six pointed star of England. There also was to be seven red stripes and six white stripes.

Adopted by Congress
"The flag was adopted by Congress on June 14, 1777, 155 years ago today. It was first used in battle at Fort Schuyler on Aug. 6, 1777.

The speaker then traced growth of the flag as new states were admitted to the union and how after six more states had been admitted the flag became ungainly and on April 4, 1818, a return was made to the 13 stripes for the original colonies and one star added for the new states, the star to be added on July 4 following admission of the state.

"Why value the flag?" the speaker asked. "Because what it cost to gain and maintain it and because it stands for those principles named in the declaration of independence and expressed and guaranteed in the constitution of the United States and expressed so well in The American Creed.

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, for the people, by the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies."

Mr. Keller also pointed out what we should value the flag because of what it cost to gain and preserve. He recalled the Revolution, the war of 1812, the Mexican war, the Civil war, the Spanish American war and the World war.

"No Red Without White, Blue"
"There are some in our ranks who would have us change the flag for a flag of another color," Mr. Keller said, "such as the communists, anarchists and bolsheviks who are using these times of stress to stir up people. But there is red enough in the flag for us—I want no flag of red without the white and blue."

The speaker then read a poem entitled "No Red Without the White and Blue," the last stanza of which follows:

"There's majesty in Old Glory,
Hope in each stripe and star;
It heralds freedom, liberty,
To nations, near and far.
Unsubdued and triumphant,
It glorified the fleets anew—
No red shall wave over my fair land
Without the white and blue."

Must Post Bond To Impound Stock

Cantor and Holzman Must Protect Rights of Defendants in Suit

Wilmington, Del.—(P)—If Eddie Cantor, stage comedian, and Benjamin F. Holzman, New York, want to keep impounded upwards of a million dollars in stock owned by defendants in Cantor's accounting suit against the Goldman Sachs Trading corporation, they must file an indemnifying bond of perhaps a half million dollars or more.

This was decided today by Chancellor J. O. Wolcott of the Delaware Chancery court, in denying a motion by counsel for the Goldman Sachs interests to have the court vacate the order sequestering 368,339 shares of stock owned by the defendants.

The suit of Cantor and Holzman, who are stockholders, was filed last February. It complains that certain individuals in the corporation willfully and recklessly squandered and wasted assets of the concern in the sum of many millions of dollars and asked the court to order the defendants to render an accounting.

The court appointed Albert L. Massey, of Wilmington, as sequestrator and he took over stock valued at the time at $1,343,798. Its present value, the court states, is $368,819. In refusing to vacate the sequestration order, Chancellor Wolcott stated an order would be entered directing that in the event the suit is dismissed or withdrawn and the stock at that time is of less value than when seized the complainants shall pay the defendants the difference. To this end the complainants are to give bond the amount of which will be fixed later.

The revelation came through hearing the Chicago Symphony orchestra under the direction of Theodore Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Fullinwider and Miss Hazel Gloe, soprano from the studio of Dean Carl J. Waterman, were presented in a joint recital at Alfred Monday evening. Miss Gloe, who has been soloist with the A Cappella choir Schola Cantorum, and at the Methodist church, was granted special permission to attend the services at Alfred, and received her bachelor of music degree from Lawrence college in absentia.

Mr. Fullinwider was a young man 22 years of age when he entered the college of music, Cincinnati. He was placed with Jose Marien, the Belgian violinist, who was head of the violin department of that institution. The second year at the college he won a scholarship and was made a member of the college string quartet, which, with the exception of himself, was composed of faculty members. This organization required the technical mastery of the performer's instrument as well as a high degree of musicianship. At the beginning of his third year of college he was engaged as one of the first violinists of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra. At the close of his fourth season at the college, the disbanding of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra precluded further studies on account of financial obligations that had to be met.

At this time he accepted a position as head of the violin department of Dakota Wesleyan university at Mitchell, S. D., which he held for three years.

In 1911 he accepted the position as head of the violin department of Lawrence conservatory. In this capacity he has developed a strong department, organizing the Fullinwider string quartet and the Fullinwider trio, two organizations which have presented chamber music of a high degree. In addition to these organizations, he has developed the Junior and Senior Symphony orchestras of Lawrence conservatory. The latter organization has gained wide popularity in the community, and for many years has presented

Mangled Body Of Man Found Near Tracks

No Inquest Called Into Death of Unidentified Person at Kaukauna

An unidentified man, apparently between 25 and 30, was instantly killed by a Chicago and Northwestern road train in front of the depot at Kaukauna shortly after 1:20 Wednesday morning. The man had been struck in the head. Identification was impossible.

Police believe the man had been sitting on the depot platform. Floyd Dreger, 17, who lives near the depot, told police that he had seen an object on the depot platform when he returned home about 12:45 Wednesday morning. He was accompanied by Sylvester Vanevenhoven, As train No. 102 which arrives at 1:21 a. m. was passing through the city southbound. Jerome Dreger, 21, a brother of the first witness, sighted an object in the road about 150 feet from the depot.

When he discovered it to be the mangled body of a man, he called Charles Gorchals, a taxi driver in the depot, and police were notified. Police were at first inclined to believe that the man was a transient and had fallen from the train. An investigation of Dreger's story and the position of the body when found, finally led police to assume that the man had been sleeping in a stooped position in the platform.

Transients questioned. They notified authorities at Oshkosh, however, to hold any transients on the train for questioning. None of the men taken from the train could furnish any information as to the identity of the victim.

The man was dressed in a light shirt, blue serge trousers, and black socks. He had been recently shaved. His hair was closely cropped, and was jet black. Police estimated his weight at 135 or 140 pounds. His shirt bore a label of the J. C. Penny Co., Appleton.

A search of the man's clothing failed to disclose his identity. His pockets contained a small amount of cash.

Stanley A. Staidle, district attorney, stated there would be no inquest. He conducted an investigation with Police Chief R. H. McCarty.

Council to Study Bids for Bridge

Long List of City License Applications Also Ready for Aldermen

With little business that presages argument, a quiet council meeting is expected tonight. There is a long list of applications for city licenses, all of which must go through the mill by July 1, but these will be referred to the police and license committee for discussion.

The bids on the John-st bridge will be considered. The low bid, $4,700, was submitted by George Probst. Other bidders were the Oscar Beck Construction company, Walter Blake, Floor Brothers Construction company, Simpson and Parker, Hoffman Construction company, and the Garvey Weyenberg company.

Nine Lives Are Lost

And Then Found Again

Birmingham, Ala. — "My trip abroad was most interesting," said Mrs. Emmelina LaFollette, of the city, as she stepped from the gangplank to be greeted affectionately by Mrs. Loretta McMullin, with whom she will make her home.

"I enjoyed the trip immensely," she continued, "although I met few acquaintances. And the ship's fare was excellent. How did I relish those scraps of meat the ship's butcher threw me!"

Miss Emmelina, by the way, is a cross-eyed Siamese cat, who made a trip around the world as a stowaway on an English liner. Recently her mistress, Mrs. McMullin, was bringing her back from England. When the passengers landed, Emmelina disappeared.

Not until the ship reached Greece some weeks later was Emmelina found on board. She had been hiding in a storeroom. Informed by cable of this fact, Mrs. McMullin instructed that Emmelina be allowed to complete the trip and land at New York.

Some Nice Fish?

Aw, It Is Friday

Houston, Tex. — Comes Friday in Houston, and Detective Chief Irwin steals himself for an exasperating session with the phone.

"Hello," a feminine voice speaks. "Have you any fresh flounders today?"

"Nothing but suckers," the chief replies.

"But I want flounders," the female answers, protestingly. "Sorry, lady," Irwin continues. "But would you care for some good looking detectives?"

And the receiver is generally hung up with a bang on the other end.

You see, Chief Irwin's telephone differs by only one number from the number of a local fish market.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Weyenberg and daughters, Elaine and Audrey, Kimberly, and Merwin Weyenberg, Little Chute, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Sakowski, Milwaukee, returned home Tuesday. Democrats Also Argue Dry Plank

Leaders Hope for Unqualified Agreement at Conclave 2 Weeks Hence

Washington (AP) — Mindful of Republican prohibition worries in Chicago, a group of Democratic leaders here is shaping a repeal plank they confidentially hope will win unqualified approval in the Windy City two weeks hence.

It still is rough-hewn. But in keeping with the desire to keep the entire 1932 platform under 1,000 words, this plank uses just a few more than 50 to dispose of the liquor issue.

It declares for "immediate submission to state conventions" of a repeal amendment. This amendment would be so drafted as to assure "state control of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors."

This principle—repeal of the eighteenth amendment by an amendment restoring state control—is the heart of the plank. About it are hung declarations for the promotion of temperance and the suppression of liquor traffic in states choosing to remain dry.

The saloon is frowned upon in this one-sentence, one paragraph plank. But it leaves no doubt that return or banishment of the saloon will be up to the states.

No direct mention is made of beer, or modification of the Volstead act. Tacitly, this problem is left to the congress that will handle the next lot of drafting the repeal amendment.

The plank's chief virtue, its authors claim, is the kindly reception it has been accorded by some party members of both wet and dry leanings. Those who have viewed it with approval include a number of senators who have been active for the dry cause in the past and are slated for important places at the Chicago meeting.

Mercury Soars to 85; Sets New High Record

The mercury skyrocketed to 85 degrees above zero Wednesday noon, setting a new high record for the summer.

High temperatures were recorded over most of the state Wednesday morning. A west wind with little change in temperature is forecast for tonight and Thursday.

Winds are shifting in the southwest and west. Fair weather has been forecast over most of the middlewest for the next 24 hours. At 6 o'clock this morning the mercury registered 68 degrees above.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Application for six marriage licenses was made today at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk. The couples making the application were: Milton W. Schroeder, route 2, Hortonville, and Rea Leitzke, route 1, Hortonville; Harold Hauser and Anna Winters, route 3, Black Creek; Raymond Van Berkel and Ruth Hein, Appleton; Frank Krueger, route 1, Seymour; and Pearl Winters, route 3, Black Creek; Edward Vanden Heuvel, route 1, Little Chute, and Edna Eiting, route 4, Kaukauna; Joseph Stein, route 2, Appleton; and Agnes Eisch, route 3, Seymour.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Hah, 1212 Spencer-st., left Wednesday for California; the southern route, stopping at Omaha, Neb., Salt Lake City, Utah, Sacramento, Los Angeles, and San Francisco, Calif. They will return by way of Portland, Ore., Yellowstone National Park, and the Black Hills. They expect to be gone about seven weeks.

Births

A daughter was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Larsen, 508 N. Drew-st., at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Foster and children, 712 E. Brewster-st., returned Sunday from a week's trip to the Black Hills of South Dakota.

Snell Lashes Out At Democrats in Chicago Address

G. O. P. Chairman Says Republicans Are Nation's Chief Safeguard

Chicago (AP) — A portion of the text of the address by Representative Bertrand H. Snell, permanent chairman of the Republican national convention, to its delegates follows:

Victory has come to the Republican party because victory has been earned.

The nation has been safe when the Republican party has been in control of the government. It has never been safe when Republicans were not on guard.

Everywhere, outside of the Republican party, is confusion and chaos. The only sound and united public sentiment of the United States is represented in this convention.

The Democratic party is fatally weak because it does not command the support or confidence of the nation and because it is utterly lacking in team work.

The Democrats have a minority complex which they cannot change. As a fault-finding, caviling minority opposition they are 100 per cent perfect. As a driving, constructive majority they are a 100 per cent failure.

As proof of this I need not recall to your mind the false gods they have pursued for over a century; the panaceas they have proposed and a wise people have rejected. Events of the past five months furnish abundant evidence of their failure.

Accepting their promises at face value, the country placed them in charge of the house of representatives. They have assured the nation that if given this power, they would restore economic equilibrium. This much must be stated to their credit as long as they followed the leadership of the one man in American who has furnished leadership in this crisis—Herbert Hoover—they functioned in splendid fashion.

"Colossal Incompetency" But when they set out to carry forward their own program they exhibited colossal incompetency, hopelessly bungled the situation, and with the result that there was a complete collapse of their party machinery.

As tragic as is the breakdown of a great political party, had the party alone suffered the situation would not have been so bad. But it was the country; the whole people of these United States, who suffered.

With this record behind it in this hour of national distress, the Democratic party is about to ask the country to accept a candidate whose identity is still unknown, standing upon a platform whose planks will probably contradict themselves. The nation is to be asked to accept confusion as a national policy and disorder as a rule of government.

The Democratic party has as many wrongs as it has candidates, and certainly its candidates are legion. These wrongs do not flap together, they flap against each other.

My countrymen, the solidarity of the Republican party in this crisis means the salvation of the United States.

If this country is to be governed with judgment and prudence, the Republican party must do the job. Call the roll of presidents from Lincoln to Hoover. The illustrious names of Republican presidents are an epitome of the history of the United States.

Great Present Problem

In Lincoln's day the people stood loyally by their president who brought them out of the shadow of disunion. In Hoover's day the people stand loyally by their president, who is bringing the country out of the shadow of vast economic adversity.

No man living or dead had had to grapple with such gigantic problems at home and abroad.

No man living or dead has fought world wide economic adversity with so stout a heart and so deep an understanding.

We hold that a protective tariff is necessary for the common defense. The Democratic party refuses to provide this protection, although I could name Democrats by the score who eagerly seek such protection on the sly for their own states and districts, while denying it to the nation at large.

The tariff was revised by the Republican party just in time to avert a catastrophe. This tariff law has been the bulwark of the common defense against world wide depression. It has saved the United States from being inundated by foreign imports and vast additional numbers of our workers would have been unemployed.

Washington as an engineer, solved stupendous and vexatious problems for the benefit of mankind.

President Hoover's mind is the mind of an engineer. He first gets his facts and then he acts. No engineer has attained success by deciding his problems on a basis of expedience. Equivocation is directly contrary to the fundamentals of the profession.

We are now engaged in a war of defense. We are fighting under the leadership of the most capable citizen in the United States. Already he has gained many battles and the victorious end of the war is nearly in sight.

Our enemy is the invisible but ghastly pestilence of world wide economic depression. It is the ghost of the World War, stalking over the earth. It is the reaper, that gathers the harvest of 10,000,000 lives and the destruction of $10,000,000,000 of hard-earned wealth.

In its present gigantic form this is a new enemy, and our people have been mystified and terrified in trying to defend themselves. Fortunately, our president was well prepared for the task of generalship in fighting off this enemy.

You know the record. You know the battles he has already won.

TYPIST - SLEUTH TRAPS TWO

Joining the Kansas City, Mo., police force, Miss Vera Brown (above), 29, pretty stenographer-detective, was called from her typewriter the day after her appointment to deliver the decoy pay-off package that trapped Walter Ogborn (lower right), who has confessed, police claim, to threatening to kidnap the 3-year-old son of a wealthy Kansas City rug merchant unless $8000 was paid. Later, with two detectives hidden in her car, she delivered the fake pay-off package that trapped Samuel Yagan (upper right), alleged instigator of the plot to extort $1000 each from two Kansas City women under threat of violence.

Dry Law Plank to Be Virtually a Substitute for 18th Amendment satisfied to have made their record and to have forced this Republican convention to go farther toward a modification of the existing prohibition situation than any national convention platform since the prohibition amendment was adopted.

Must Help Drys

What killed the extreme program of the repealers was the calmer reasoning of the party strategists who argued that after all a Republican president is entitled to seek a Republican senate and house, and that an outright repeal platform plank would make it difficult for dry congressmen in admittedly dry states to run without deserting the national platform. Such embarrassment means factions fighting and a possible victory for an opponent through a bi-partisan coalition of wet forces. All these things are possible anyway, but Republican leaders are not anxious to make it easier to elect Democratic members of congress.

The question of whether the proposal to be submitted by congress to the states shall or shall not contain a repeal paragraph is debated only by those who want to confine the submission to that issue. The administration forces contend that a simple repeal leaves the situation in chaos at that it is the obligation of the Republican party to propose simultaneously with repeal a method of controlling the liquor traffic which can be supported. In other words, if the plan were to retain federal control through the constitution and to protect dry states against invasion of the liquor traffic, at the same time giving the wet states the right to deal with the problem as they desired, this would be one sort of an alternative.

Must Meet Demands

The disposition here is not to try to specify the alternative but to make the platform plank declare for principles on which alternatives can be based, such as state control and protection of dry states against traffic between states, and other necessary steps to safeguard the temperance demands of the nation.

This may seem externally like a drab convention. It is being characterized as lifeless and without enthusiasm.

Well, hardly any kind of a gathering in these depression days is a rip-roaring carnival. The delegates are serious-minded people. Many of them are alternates and this is their first convention. The depression is in the back of the mind of everybody. There is a worried feeling everywhere. Nobody is able quite to shake off the existence of the most severe depression in American history.

Under the circumstances the convention may be described as business-like and even-tempered. On the streets and in the hotel lobbies the delegates present a distinctly well-behaved appearance. You do not see the rollicking, irresponsible looking delegate at all. If this is a wet convention, it is the driest looking affair from a standpoint of liquor consumption that a big city has ever witnessed.

Maybe the masculine delegates are influenced by the presence of so many of the finer women from their home state who are taking a deep interest in what is going on. Maybe some of the wet delegates want to prove that their prohibition demands do not reflect personal thirst. Anyway, the convention is a dignified gathering of good-looking men and women who have come here with a feeling that the Republican party is on trial and that the campaign is going to be a real battle.

Chicago (AP) — The move to put Charles G. Dawes on the Republican ticket in place of Vice President Curtis gained strength today despite the general's statement he was not a candidate for the post.

Apparently, Dawes supporters were proceeding on the assumption he could be drafted for the vice presidential post. Still others, friends of Curtis and neutrals, believed that being vice president

Dane-County Democrats to Have Two Full Slates

Madison (AP) — Dane-County Democrats will enter the September primary race with two full slates of candidates for the state senate and the assembly and an even more complete list for county offices.

Miles C. Riley, circuit court commissioner, and Dr. C. A. Shotts of Oregon, were nominated for the senate at a meeting of county Democrats last night. Dr. Shotts is a brother of Arthur Shotts of Oregon, who has been called the "grand old man of the Republican party" here.

For three Dane-County assembly seats six candidates were named: John Blaska and F. C. Sweet, Sun Prairie; Stanley Gordon, Verona; A. M. Johnson, Mt. Horeb; A. J. Eleberstein and Frank C. Parish, Madison.

See Good Outlook For Rye and Wheat

State and Federal Departments of Agriculture Say Prospects Above Average

Madison (AP) — Above average prospects for spring plantings and increases in winter wheat and rye productions in Wisconsin this year were forecast today by the Federal and Wisconsin departments of agriculture.

Last year's production of 456,000 bushels of winter wheat will be increased 25 per cent with a possible harvest of 668,000 bushels and rye production will reach 2,725,000 bushels this year, an increase of 25 per cent over last year, the department predicted. Both crops which are harvested in July will be greater because of heavier planting.

Favorable rains and cool weather are responsible for a two-point improvement in the condition of spring sown grains this year over last year's crops, the report said. The condition of spring wheat is 88 per cent of normal and that of oats and barley 89 per cent. Acres devoted to spring grains is greater this year than in 1931.

The production of winter wheat for the United States as a whole will be lower this year because of steadily rising temperatures, moisture scarcity and extensive damage by the Hessian fly.

Rye production in the country at large shows an increase of 18 per cent over a year ago. All of the important rye states, except Wisconsin and Minnesota, show production prospects below the ten-year average, though the acreage is generally larger, the department said.

Miss Mollie Sailer underwent an operation for appendicitis yesterday at St. Elizabeth hospital.

once was enough for the Chicago banker and diplomat and that when he said he was not a candidate he meant it.

Regardless, the general situation was causing Curtis adherents much uneasiness. The opposition to him has proved as stubborn as a grass fire. Reiteration by administration men that they were for the veteran Indian politician has not stamped it out.

The Texas delegation has obtained from Arkansas the right to put Dawes' name before the convention if Illinois—where there is strong sentiment for him—does not do it.

Then Iowa would like to see it. "Hoover and Dawes." Many from Missouri, Connecticut, New Mexico, Minnesota and other states have let it be known they feel the same way.

It is not unlikely that they will find themselves an army without a general before it is over. There remains the possibility, however, they will go in search of another and more willing leader and find him.

Quite a few names have been suggested already. James W. Wadsworth, one-time United States senator, Theodore Roosevelt, governor of the Philippines, and others.

Most of the male delegates have been and still are taking prohibition but the appearance at the convention of Dolly Gann, Curtis' sister, and Alice Roosevelt Longworth, has turned the attention of many of the women to the vice presidential situation.

Mrs. Gann is frankly doing what she can to get her brother renominated. Mrs. Longworth has said nothing but she is credited in some quarters with astute moves to send Curtis back to private life.

First Carload of Flour for Poor Is Received in City

Free Food from Federal Farm Board to Be Distributed Thursday

Half of the 758 barrels of flour which is being provided for poor relief in Outagamie-co by the federal farm board arrived in Appleton this morning, according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk. The flour will be distributed Thursday morning by Mr. Hantschel, Anton Jansen, Little Chute, chairman of the county board committee on poor relief, and Arthur P. Jensen, secretary of the Outagamie County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

These three men constituted the committee which surveyed the county and determined the amount of flour needed for relief for the next three months.

More than half of the entire amount asked for by towns, cities and villages in the county will be distributed in Appleton. Of the 758 barrels, 450 will go to Appleton and the balance of 308 barrels will be distributed among the other towns, cities and villages.

Heads of the various towns, cities and villages were being notified this morning by Mr. Hantschel to be in Appleton tomorrow morning to secure the flour. All towns, cities and villages will receive their amounts first, and the balance will go to Appleton. When the next carload arrives the entire amount will be given to the city. This carload is expected in a few days.

Following are the various towns, cities and villages and the amount of flour requested by each:

Town of Seymour, 10 barrels; Shiocton, 12; town of Freedom, 6; Grand Chute, 20; town of Seymour, 10; Osborn, 3; Vandenzbroek, 3; Clinton, 6; Third ward, New London, 50; town of Bear Creek, 7; village of Bear Creek, 9; Hortonville, 15; Greenville, 4; Combined Locks, 10; Bovina, 5; Cicero, 6; Appleton, 450; town of Kaukauna, 3; Center, 6; village of Black Creek, 6; Little Chute, 30; Kimberly, 15; Ellington, 5; Oneida, 20; City of Kaukauna, 35; Hortonville, 5; town of Black Creek, 2; and Buchanan, 5.

Seventy Valley Scouts Sign for Encampment

Seventy valley council boy scouts have enrolled for the annual summer encampment, Sept. 7 to 27, at Onaway Island, Chain O' Lakes, Waupaca, according to M. G. Clark, scout executive. Preliminary plans for a four-day encampment for valley council Cub packs are being arranged now by Mr. Clark.

More than 6,000 oak trees from the famed Cobham Hall estate near Gravesend, England, were sold at auction recently.

Appleton Student Receives Honors For Work in Art

Harold Young, former Appleton high school student, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young, 620 N. Oneida-st., received special honors for excellent art work at the Layton Art school, Milwaukee, from which he graduated this year. Mr. Young recently won first prize with a striking pencil portrait of a young girl in the black and white group at the Wisconsin Painters' and Sculptors' show at Milwaukee this year.

The scholastic award at the art school was presented to Mr. Young on basis of his general excellence, which includes ability and progress during the year in his studies. The award makes him eligible for a $100 scholarship should he decide to return to the art school next term, which is offered to all three year students whose work is outstanding enough for an all-excellence award. The scholarship is offered by the Layton Art School board of trustees.

Work by Mr. Young is included in the honor exhibitions of student work in both the Layton Art gallery and the studios of the Layton Art school, both of which are open to the public. Besides the pencil portrait, the young Appleton artist will also show some water color figures, still lifes and a group of charcoal drawings from life.

CLUB WILL MEET

The Advertising club Incorporated of Appleton will meet at the Convent hotel Thursday noon. Plans for the trade expansion days and the annual outing of the club will be discussed.

New Merchandising Program
PRICES SLASHED
To Put Men To Work

Hundreds of men will get jobs in the clothing factories . . . and everyone knows that "jobs for the workingman" is the greatest need in America today. That's the bona-fide reason for this sale . . . to sell out our stock of Men's and Boys' Clothing so that we can make new purchases from the manufacturers and start the wheels of the clothing industry once more and in that way PUT MEN BACK TO WORK.

We are overstocked with merchandise now . . . so this sale will accomplish a double purpose, 1st to help us clear our stocks, and 2nd, put Men Back to Work when we re-order from the factories.

It seems a pity to slaughter prices, as we have, on such a wonderful stock of clothing right at the start of the summer season . . . but we have no alternative . . . we've decided to try to Help Put Men To Work. Costs and Profits have been entirely forgotten, we are giving our ever faithful friends and customers the benefit of these LOW PRICES at practically No Profit to us.

These are straight from the shoulder statements of facts. We mean to help PUT MEN TO WORK, and this great sale with these No Profit prices is our way of doing it. We feel that this will be one of the greatest merchandising sensations ever held in Appleton . . . one that will stand unchallenged for years to come. Be Here When the Door Opens Thursday Morning.

THE CASE OF GERMANY

Unquestionably democracy in Germany is in grave danger.

There may be less danger of a coup d'etat than there is of an honest desire born of mature conviction upon the part of the German people that their only salvation lies in a monarchy.

It must not be assumed that the Junkers with the old spiked helmets, the class that led Germany up to and into the war, are entirely without virtues or arguments. The rather astonishing thing is that the German people, under the circumstances, have resisted them as long as they have.

Rightly or wrongly the republic was held responsible for the unfair and vengeful peace inflicted upon the Reich. While the rest of the world talked disarmament to Germany it armed as the Junkers had never dared to arm. The world is responsible for part of the condition which confronts the German people.

Another material element in putting the imperialists in the saddle was the shambling, shiftless, hopeless manner in which democracy twisted itself up until it couldn't stand, to say nothing of walking.

There is a lesson for us in this situation. Germany has so many political parties with so many shades of belief that control of her legislative assemblies is almost always a matter of log-rolling. She lacked entirely the ability to function and when she did function she couldn't function effectively. The collapse of democracy is always evident when everyone pulls in a different direction. Somewhat the same situation becomes apparent in this country when a Progressive bloc in congress does its utmost at every turn to defeat its own party, instead of fighting for the principles in which it believes until overcome by a majority of its party. The same thing occurred in the Democratic party when, after a majority in congress had agreed upon a program, a minority went over with wild and unanchored elements to the defeat of the agreed plan.

There is a sharp distinction between men who fight their own parties for the sake of some deep-rooted and proven principle, which is right, and men who fight for the sake of some personal opinion, which is wrong. All government is compromise, as life, from the cradle to the grave, must be compromise. Either these compromises must come about gently and sanely or we will have continual strife and spend our substance in that way instead of constructing something worth while with it.

Germany, despoiled under an unjust treaty by those who are so blind as to believe they can keep a leading people of the world indefinitely under the heel, and then torn asunder by Democratic forms in which the individuals thought more of themselves or of some pet idea than of their country, may go back permanently to the militarists, not mistakenly nor blindly but carefully reckoning the cost.

She may conclude that even if the imperialists plunge her into foreign military struggles they are preferable to those who never give her any peace at home.

Democracy has been tried out in Germany for nearly 14 years and has been found wanting.

COMING DOWN THE HOME STRETCH.

The tactics employed by the dregs at Chicago show how desperate they have become.

At their loyalty meeting one speaker declared they did not dare to engage a building from which to distribute literature because some racketeers would bomb it.

There is never a better argument than the declaration by a speaker that he or his cause is in danger of violence. Although people who will think half a moment realize the wild exaggeration of this particular charge.

Every racketeer in Chicago would flock to the protection of the dregs like hungry soldiers run to mess. Every gangster in America with his hands wet with human blood is trembling lest prohibition be repealed. If that class ever prays its thick lips are mumbling Te Deums for the salvation of prohibition. Every kidnaper, every assassin that ever stabbed a man in the back, every boot-legger that ever shot a child, every piece of flotsam in the gutter, every fragment of beheaded human wreckage, is beseech-ing all the powers of darkness to help the Anti-Saloon League hold the fort.

Congressman Blanton, leading dry from Texas, declared in the House only last week:

"Prohibition doesn't need money. The wets need the money. They have bought up the newspapers, magazines, the radio. Almost they have bought up control of congress."

The other members laughed. They knew the charge against them was false. The public knows that such a charge against the press is equally false. It has been the mode for dry leaders to charge everyone who honestly fears the way America has been going with being a drunkard. Mr. Rockefeller and others who have never touched alcohol must expect that sort of calumny.

Verily, whom the gods destroy, they first make howling mad.

PRINCES OF THE BLOOD

The forms of monarchy keep growing in America.

The Republican party is proud of the fact that a young man by the name of Taft is a delegate to the convention from Ohio. Mr. Taft's father was president. Nothing is said concerning Mr. Taft's own accomplishments.

When Mr. Hoover's administration became interested in drawing a prohibition plank "that would be acceptable to all" it sent for another Ohioan, Garfield by name. His father too was president of the United States.

The Democrats are no less subservient to the glitter of names, forgetting their emptiness. Supporters of Governor Ritchie happily acclaim the fact that his name will be presented at the Democratic national convention by a young man who would never be heard of were it not for the fact that his father was Grover Cleveland, once president of the United States.

There isn't so much difference between those who talk of Albert of Saxony and Rupert of Bavaria and the "ancient regime" and those of our own who doff their hats at the son of a distinguished father. Perhaps we shouldn't smile so broadly at the American society women who plan to be introduced at the court of St. James believing that it gives them the haughty stateliness of position.

It is an excellent thing for the public service to interest one after another of the generations in serving the public but it is a harmful thing when the newcomers are not compelled to earn their way through just as arduous toil as their sires and to go up the ladder, rung by rung.

When we catapult young men ahead of their own deserts and simply because of their names we are embracing the spirit of monarchy and doing treacherous injustice to others.

We would be ashamed to admit that these young men are in reality princes of our ruling houses—but they are.

WAR SONGS

Soldiers in the World War knew about one Mademoiselle from Armentieres.

Knew about her, that is to say, in song. For the most famous of all war songs, beyond a doubt, was that highly jazzy ballad which had the catch-line "Hinky-dinky parlez-vous," which told of the adventures of this fabled damsel from Armentieres.

Mademoiselle herself remained shrouded in mystery, until a little while ago; and then an American composer, who is in France making a study of World War songs, announced that he had found out some things about the lady and had learned how the song came into being.

There was a cafe at Armentieres, it seems, and mademoiselle worked there. She was a very proper young lady, and one day a general, attempting familiarities with her, got his face roundly slapped; and at a regimental song fest a few nights later some inspired songster introduced a ditty dealing with the incident.

And that, it is claimed, was the start of it. The anecdote leads one to muse about soldiers' songs, and to wonder how they originate, and what it takes to set fighting men chanting the same chorus.

The World War soldiers sang the ditty about the girl from Armentieres. But what did other soldiers in the other wars sing? They sang songs from music halls, of course—but they had their own special songs, too, and those songs never got in the anthologies, and they have been forgotten.

The Roman legionnaires, it is said, had a ribald song about a girl named Lalage, who doubtless was a prototype of this Armentieres charmer; and it would be worth a good deal to know how the song went, and what its tune was like.

Men who march off to fight must sing. Indeed, they cannot fight if they cannot sing. They will sing everything and anything, except the pompous patriotic pieces which the stay-at-homes like; and usually they evolve their own pet songs, and singing them, march off to die—at Ypres, or Chickamauga, or Waterloo, or Saratoga, or wherever it may be; and all we get is a tantalizing reminder that somewhere back of each song there was some flesh-and-blood figure like this mysterious girl from Armentieres.

The Gallagher flour mill at Sandusky, O., which shipped the first flour ever made in that region to New York 100 years ago, still is in operation.

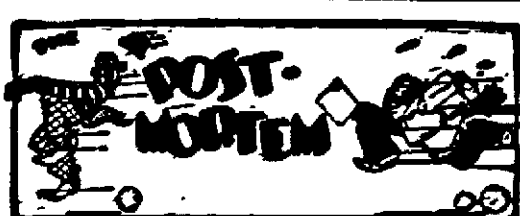

Joseph B. Elliott, for 15 years a comedian on the stage, now has a gunsmith and locksmith's shop in Indianapolis, Ind.

There are 31 persons to every 100,000 in Indiana in county poor asylums.

Ohio farmers use more fertilizer than do the farmers in any other corn belt state.

Snakes, 106 of them, were found in one nest near Belleville, Ohio.

Indiana universities are experiencing greater enrollments than was true a year ago.

THE CONVENTION got under way yesterday . . . as this was written, we had seen or heard nothing about it . . . by the time this column greets you, things should have begun to shape themselves . . . this is a queer presidential convention . . . the Republicans wouldn't even need one if they were only worried about selecting a presidential candidate and don't they wish that a president were their only worry . . . obey . . . but the Republicans have just a great big flock of things to worry about . . . and prohibition that's a separate and distinct worry all by itself . . . but, take the Democrats frantically . . . they have the same problems to worry about as have the Republicans . . . then they have to try to get together the various Dems who are about as agreeable as rival South American political parties . . . then, finally, they have to get themselves hooked up with a presidential candidate . . . tsk, tsk . . . maybe the Republicans will win despite everything . . . if they do, they can thank the Democrats . . .

Well, if you folks don't like all this political chatter, you'd better crash through with some contributions. There'll be a lot of political stuff in the news from now on, and the daily effort is based pretty much on the news.

PEOPLE USED TO THINK ABOUT USING BUTTONS FOR MONEY, BUT, IF WE GET INFLATION OF CURRENCY, WE'LL HAVE TO USE MONEY FOR BUTTONS.

But imagine folding up a twenty dollar bill to the proper size and sewing it on a coat. Tsk, tsk.

Glad to see that Stanislaus Hausner was picked up after drifting around the ocean for eight days in the wreck of his plane. He is one of the rare mortals who dared to fly the Atlantic, who failed while still over the stormy wastes, and who still came out alive.

Argument for prohibition: why legalize beer and let the government make more money by taxing it? (The answer, of course, is—let the beer tax reduce other taxes. Don't tell a dry that.)

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

THE TEMPTRESS

As I went walking down the way I met a pretty miss,

Who bodily looked at me and said: "A lovely day is this!"

Her hair was of a golden brown, her eyes a sparkling blue.

I proudly doffed my hat to her and answered, "Howdy-do!"

She placed her graceful hand in mine and turned to go my way.

Said I: "I have no time to flirt; I've work to do today."

I think you'd better run back home." With sadness dropped her chin.

"We'll pass the drug store soon," said she. "I thought you'd take me in."

"Oh, no," said I, "that wouldn't do. The hour is growing late."

And I am on my way to town to keep a business date.

Besides, to make it very plain, no time for girls have I!"

At such a cold rebuff from me the maid began to cry.

Now, though I've been a married man for six-and-twenty years,

I haven't learned in all that time to cope with a woman's tears.

And so I let that temptress fair, who's scarcely seven years old,

Escort me to the pharmacy where ice cream cones are sold.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

IN THE SPRING THE OLD

TIMER'S FANCY

April 26 was the opening date this year. On that day the first inquiry arrived. Minnesota reader asked me to advise him of a spring tonic with the use of sulphur and how to mix and take it.

This season the proportion of such inquiries in the mail was distinctly less than it has been in former seasons. It looks as tho the old timers are gradually relinquishing their venerable traditions. Ho-hum, what a dull world this will be when all those fine old romantic notions have gone a-glimmering.

Sulphur is a laxative. It has no appreciable effect other than that. Probably sulphur is not absorbed into the blood at all when taken as sulphur, but only when it is present in natural chemical compounds in such foods as eggs, beans, meat, cheese, fish, milk, peas, wheat flour, cornmeal and potatoes. There is comparatively little sulphur in the human body, about one-fourth as much sulphur as phosphorus, for example, and about one-eighth as much sulphur as calcium (lime).

The only effect of sulphur taken in medicinal dose is laxative. A favorite old "spring tonic" mixture was equal quantities of sulphur and molasses, and the old timers took from a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of this once or twice daily for a few weeks in the spring when the ice went out and they were once more able to visit the grocery. Molasses is mildly laxative, too, and some of the awful stuff that is sold under the fair name of molasses nowadays contains enough sulphur or brimstone to admit it to the Old Nick's table. I should think. The sulphur in this diabolic fluid known as molasses today is a contribution made in the form of sulphurous acid used in the manufacture or refining of sugar. The famous old "New Orleans" molasses was the product of the manufacture of sugar in the old fashioned way, in the open kettle and without vacuum pans, centrifugal separation and chemicals. This fine palatable old fashioned molasses is now hard to obtain, but fortunately may still be had, and it beats modern mixed syrups as a table delicacy or for pepping up the kids' bread and butter.

Sulphur is prescribed as a laxative in cases where soft, mushy effluents are required. Powdered sulphur mixed with powdered senna leaves and powdered licorice constitutes the familiar compound licorice powder which is still used as a laxative following childbirth and hemorrhoid operations.

Washed sulphur is the only kind suitable for internal use.

Sublimed or precipitated sulphur is for external use.

Sulphur in the form of a well made ointment (in which the sulphur is quite extinguished, that is, particle can be felt between the fingers) is still the best remedy we have for dandruff and for scabies (old fashioned itch). So far as we know, however, sulphur is without value as a remedy for other conditions than scabies where itching happens to be a symptom. (Scabies is a parasitic infestation of the skin, and the sulphur kills the parasites, itches which burrow under the cuticle.) I have concluded that it is impossible to instruct people how to employ sulphur as a remedy for scabies, without sulphur as a remedy for scabies without personal supervision by the physician. I mean that the doctor's attendance is essential for successful results. So don't waste your time and postage asking me for further instructions. Ask your doctor.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Orthodontia

Daughter 8. Lower jaw does not seem to be developing in proportion . . . Would any treatment I might obtain from a physician stimulate the jaw development . . .

Answer—A dentist who does orthodontia work (straightening teeth) can correct the trouble with an appliance which the child wears for a year or two, if the treatment is begun now.

Benzol

My son works in a room where there are 800 gallons of benzol used daily. He has lost about 30 pounds in the last six months. Is this benzol injurious to his health? (Mrs. L. V.)

Answer—If he inhales the vapor or fumes it is exceedingly injurious to health.

Pleasing Some Of The Folks Some

I cannot help writing my appreciation of your article entitled "The Solace of Tobacco." If more physicians or health authorities would express the same fine ideas you expressed in that article, much good problem and excessive smoking. Would be done, both the drink (Mrs. H. E. F.)

Answer—Yet several readers wrote to deplore my attitude in respect to tobacco. Thank you for your approval.

Not A Bad Gargle

Last year I wrote for that gargle you recommended for singers and speakers. It is really the finest thing I have ever come across. (B. M. D.)

Answer—Many singers and speakers troubled with huskiness have praised it. The gargle is not one of my devising. It was originally made by Mr. England, pharmacist in a Philadelphia hospital. I am glad to send the directions for compounding the gargle and for its use. Enclose a stamped envelope bearing your address.

The Tinymites

By Hal Cochran

COURSE driving stakes was far from fun, but Scouty said, "It must be done! The circus man is mad at us because we tore his tent."

"He's going to make us work today until we've earned enough to pay for all the damage we have done. He is a real gruff gent."

"It's our own fault," wee Duncy cried, "because we took that rocket ride. Perhaps, though, we can do this work and then look 'round a bit."

"I'll carry water, if I can, to elephants. Let's ask the man. I'll like to see this show tonight, when all the lights are lit."

The tent boss then approached. Said he, "Keep up your work and then you'll see that I can be real kind to you. I really like you boys."

"I'll take you to the cages where the lions may give you a scare. Just wait until you hear them roar. They make a lot of noise."

"Oh, I am not afraid! You'll see," said Windy. "Nothing frightens me especially when it's in a cage and can't come jumping out."

"We'll gladly do the work you say if, after while, you'll let us play. We'd all be thrilled to find out what the circus is about."

It wasn't long until each Tiny-mite had had his fill of driving stakes into the ground. At last the job was done.

The tent boss then said, "Come with me. Some circus people you will see. No matter where I take you, just be brave and do not run."

And then he led them to a tent inside of it the big boss went. "I'll bring a girl with me." That's what he did. The girl came out. "Hello," the Times heard her shout. Wee Duncy softly whispered, "She's as pretty as can be."

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—The suggestion of Senator Dave Reed of Pennsylvania that congress stick on the job in Washington while the national political conventions are in full swing came as a jolt to many of the gentlemen on the hill.

But what can they do about it? However much they might enjoy attending the conventions, and there are many of them who regard a national convention as the grandest holiday imaginable, there is no escaping the fact that they can't afford to leave Washington with the country in the fix it is at present.

Senators and congressmen are well aware that even now the delay in balancing the budget is costing the country millions each day and the thought of permitting the fiscal year to close June 30th with the government in, such a state of financial bewilderment as it would be if they fail to take the necessary steps sends cold shivers up and down the spine of perhaps the bravest of them.

Eyes on Chicago

Yet the idea of missing the show at Chicago, to many of them, seems unthinkable. Some senators head their state delegations. Others are delegates, and either publicly or privately have important political concerns at Chicago.

And the number is not limited merely to Senators Barkley and Dickinson, the two convention keynoteers, or Representative Snell, probable permanent chairman of the republican convention. There are several "favorite sons" on the hill, many of them with a long-ling in their hearts to be the second man on the ticket.

Then there is the matter of the platform to be reckoned with. Prohibition for example, looms as a troublesome issue at both the republican and democratic conventions.

They'll Be There

In event of such a fight, can you imagine, for example, a man like Senator Borah of Idaho not being around in the neighborhood of the platform committee?

A senator or congressman who has political concern—large or small—in the coming conventions is going to Chicago in June unless he is absolutely hog-tied in Washington.

The attorney general of Missouri has ruled that any girl of 18 may marry without the consent of her parents. He forgot to add, however, that they must be careful that all other husbands have been legally disposed of first.

Four Russian towns have been named after Stalin. Evidently, his dictator is without modesty in his own country.

Automobile sales are bound to pick up soon. Otherwise, there won't be enough left to take care of the hitch-hikers.

Gigli says the people want a lighter and more popular form of opera. That might go for opera stars too.

Secretary of War Newton D. Baker announced that on this day more than 800,000 American troops were in France and that they had taken up large scale fighting on the western front.

Alfalfa Bill Murray says the Democrats should nominate a man "whose speeches aren't written for him by a college professor." Could he mean Alfalfa Bill?

The proposed tax on fires and tubes has been cut in half. That is what is known in Congress as saving the taxpayers' money.

Liquor Issue Above Others At Convention

G. O. P. Leaders Surprised At Minor Place of Economic Situation

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Chicago, Ill. — "In a crisis like this—a member of the cabinet is speaking—when unemployment is widespread and we are at grips with the economic situation, we come to a Republican national convention and judging by what some of the delegates are saying, all they are interested in is the booze question."

The foregoing comment is typical of the reaction which set in Tuesday to the hullabaloo which the wets have stirred up, giving the whole convention the aspect of prohibition controversy. It means also that the moderates are going to control the resolutions committee and recommend to the convention a platform touching on many questions besides prohibition, and, on that issue offering the people a chance to decide between the existing situation and constructive alternatives.

Outright repeal will still be advocated by a minority who wish to go back to the situation that existed before the eighteenth amendment, and who are not interested in proposing any alternative to be voted upon. With Republicans to be elected to congress from dry states and in recognition of the fact that a Republican president would like to have a Republican congress, the sentiment of the Hoover representatives here is to accept a plank that gives the people a chance to vote on the issue, but with some alternatives offered them and with the whole manner of submission and the proposal of the alternatives to be left to congress without specific commitment except on general principles.

Opening Not Exciting
The opening convention session was not spectacular in the sense of debate or excitement. It was a brief affair with the speech of Senator Dickinson of Iowa, as the principal event. Mr. Dickinson laid the foundations for the campaign. Today's speech by the permanent chairman, Bert Snell, of New York, was to complete the job. From these two speeches the nature of the Republican defense may be inferred. It was significant that Mr. Dickinson who comes from a farm state struck out boldly in defense of the farm board and the money spent for stabilization of agricultural prices, charging that some of the members of grain exchanges, and others who had turned critics, were among those who urged the spending of money to save the farmer. The Iowa senator pointed out that in one way or another more than a billion dollars had been "poured into" agriculture in the last three years, hence the farmer should be, he argued, the friend of Republicanism.

Credit for Mr. Hoover in his reconstruction plans and denunciation of the Democrats for obstruction in balancing the budget were expected as a campaign argument and Senator Dickinson had plenty to say in criticism of the opposite party, though he did close with a brotherly note about the wisdom of the two party system as contrasted with the blocs and groups abroad.

The biggest single demonstration came when Senator Dickinson mentioned the name of Herbert Hoover. It was early in his address. The delegates rose to their feet and cheered. The demonstration did not last long but it was the usual outburst that is prolonged by the playing of bands.

Democrats Need Most Signatures

First Time in Years That Dem Vote Exceeded Republican

Due to the fact that Governor Alfred E. Smith carried Outagamie-co by a small majority four years ago, it will be necessary for Democratic candidates for office to secure more signatures on their nomination papers this year than Republican candidates. This is the first time that this situation has occurred for many years, according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk. The state law provides that the last vote for president shall determine the number of signers needed on nomination papers.

Democrats must have at least 375 and not more than 1,247 signatures from at least eight precincts, while Republican candidates need at least 372 signatures and not more than 1,237, according to Mr. Hantschel. Democratic candidates for the assembly from the first district need at least 181 and not more than 602 signatures from at least four precincts, while Republican candidates need at least 243 and not more than 810 from the same number of precincts. In the second district candidates for this office require from 194 to 644 signatures if they plan to run as Democrats, while Republican candidates need from 129 to 427 signatures. These must be from at least five precincts.

No Authorization for Sale of Approval Cards

Madison —(AP)— The state board of health today said it has never authorized solicitors to sell approval placards to householders catering to tourists.

Persons acting as solicitors for fake organizations have been known to charge fees for placarding rooming houses as approved by the organizations, Dr. C. A. Harper state health officer said. He added that it is doubtful whether the approval of even bonafide organizations was of any value to the operator of the household.

If five or more rooms are offered for transients, the householder is required to apply for a license to the board of health and is subject to the sanitary provisions of the state hotel code, Dr. Harper pointed out.

A Timely Suggestion to the MOTORING PUBLIC

FOR the past six years, tires have been steadily dropping in price at periodic intervals.

No one familiar with general economic conditions and production costs could consistently recommend buying tires in advance of current needs as being desirable.

But now we have reached the point where crude rubber has declined from $1.20 a pound in 1925—an artificially high price—to less than 3c a pound, which is far less than it costs to produce.

Cotton, too, has dropped from more than 20c a pound to around 5c a pound, which also is less than its cost of production.

These—rubber and cotton—are the two main materials entering into the construction of pneumatic tires.

A STEADY reduction in tire prices has been brought about almost entirely by the drastic decline in price of these two basic raw materials.

So in buying your tires now you get the benefit of these two items at less than cost of production, and the benefit also of price reductions made to give every possible inducement to stimulate buying for the purpose of keeping labor in the tire factories employed.

It must be evident, therefore, that tire prices have reached bottom and that you can wisely and profitably replace such tires as are worn to a point where they will soon become unsafe, and that also you can anticipate your future requirements to some extent and know you are making a good investment.

With the need of promoting employment wherever possible, and the imminence of a substantial revenue tax on tires, I believe that you will be benefiting yourselves and the country at large by making your tire purchases now.

Hanna Helped McKinley Into Highest Office

Ohio Boss Cracked Whip Over Corporations With Candidate Holding Reins

EDITOR'S NOTE.—This is the sixth of a series of daily stories on the important part political bosses have played in the choice of the nation's president from the early days of the republic down to the present.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
(Copyright, 1932, NEA Service, Inc.)
Washington — Mark Hanna, one of the most powerful and effective of American political bosses, decided that his friend, William B. McKinley, must not be left at the mercy of a group of machine politicians conniving in a smoke-filled hotel room.

So he went personally through the country, with plenty of money and plenty of promises, and signed up enough little bosses and delegates to insure McKinley's nomination by the Republicans in 1896.

Then he decided that election campaigns should be put on a business basis. He raised millions of dollars, chiefly from corporations, who felt McKinley's election was their best bet. As a result he elected McKinley over Bryan.

It was one of the most amazing single-handed performances ever seen. Hanna had retired in 1894 from his business in coal and iron to engage in politics with the aim of electing McKinley.

Which was exactly what he did. He had been inspired both by a love for McKinley and a desire for a high protective tariff, which he felt was the best thing for the country.

He has been pictured as a ruthless plutocrat who lusted for power and debauched politics. Yet he was honest and generous and, for his time, enlightened. He believed that political parties must be cut to fit an industrial civilization. He put efficiency and business methods into political management. And if he did not have McKinley under his thumb, he did, during his period as Republican national chairman from 1896 until his death in 1904, exert complete control over the party.

Hanna had been a business man who was always active in public affairs, serving first on various political committees in Ohio and Cleveland.

He learned about hotel room nominations and "dark horses" who best favorites in the two decades before he nominated McKinley.

James G. Blaine had twice as many delegates as anyone else in 1876, but it was known that he couldn't win if his enemies could combine the favorite sons against him. The New York and Pennsylvania bosses were sworn to defeat him.

Secretary of War Cameron headed a Pennsylvania delegation instructed for Hartman, but the delegates were itching to vote for Blaine. At a conference in Cameron's hotel room the delegates agreed to stay with Hartman as long as he gained, so some southern delegates were bought up and a few tossed to Hartman on each ballot.

The gas in the convention hall was turned off just as balloting was about to begin and the convention was rigged overnight.

By the time the voting was over Blaine had the votes of a majority, but never on the same ballot. Bob Ingersoll nearly made a president with his famous "Plumed Knight" speech, but the break came when Roscoe Conkling, the pompous administration leader and boss of New York, threw his state's 61 to Rutherford B. Hayes, who was nominated in a seventh ballot stampede.

Hanna had gone as a delegate for Senator John Sherman of Ohio in 1884 and 1888. James A. Garfield had been Sherman's manager in 1880, when the leading candidates were Grant and Blaine, with a deadlock certain. Conkling, again first of all anti-Blaine, led the Grant forces and Garfield became floor manager of the anti-Grant forces.

Such powerful eastern bosses as Tom Platt of New York and Matt Quay of Pennsylvania also were among the Grant forces, which tried and failed to have the unit rule adopted.

Garfield made such a good impression that after 35 ballots the Blaine forces began to swing to him over his own protest and he was nominated.

In 1888, when Sherman led the field, Hanna had seen another "dark horse" win—Benjamin Harrison. Sherman was blocked by the New York leaders, especially Boss Tom Platt.

In 1895, at a time when it appeared that the Republicans were sure to win next year, Hanna began systematically to weed out the boss candidates and the favorite sons. He found that the state bosses were all set to tie up the convention, but he promised patronage and used other persuasive arguments and soon had Ohio and half a dozen other states lined up for McKinley. In Illinois he put Charles G. Dawes on the job and Dawes succeeded brilliantly after great effort.

Speaker Tom Reed had been the favorite until Hanna got going. He was the Republican party's real leader. But Hanna's pre-convention campaign was the most elaborate one ever seen up to that time and McKinley won without a struggle, although such bosses as Platt and Quay held out to the end.

It became evident that Bryan had a real chance to win and Hanna, as the new national chairman, threw himself into a brilliant, expensive campaign. He set out to educate the country to the dangers of "Bryanism" and free silver. He used 1400 speakers and 120,000,000 pieces of literature. He levied quota assessments on corporations, banks and insurance companies, raising an unheard-of amount, estimated at six or seven million dollars.

He was the most talked-of man of his time. After McKinley's election he refused a cabinet job and had himself made a senator from Ohio. Later, when a South Dakota senator attacked him and intimated he had bribed his way into the Senate he went out to South Dakota and drove that senator out of public office.

Hanna helped revive the sentiment for a Panama or Nicaraguan canal. He re-elected McKinley in 1900 and was being talked of as a

Withrow Scores Treasury Bureau

Hits Failure to Collect Income Taxes from Big Corporations

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington.—The treasury department was scored for "high-handed and fraudulent practices" in failing to collect more than a billion dollars due the United States in income tax from large corporations in a statement issued Monday, by Rep. Gardner Withrow of La-Crosse.

"The treasury department comes to congress with the demand that the taxes against the common citizen of the country be levied beyond reason and at the same time the treasury department fails to make any effort to collect over a billion dollars in taxes which have been levied against large corporate incomes and some of which have been owing since 1924," Rep. Withrow said.

He states that similar charges were recently made by Congressman McFadden of Pennsylvania in the house of representatives and that facts show hundreds of millions of dollars of the total owed to the United States by foreign ship owners, who have not only evaded paying taxes but have received al-sent for Harding—who had told Harry M. Daugherty to cease efforts on his behalf because he wanted to file for the Senate again in order not to lose his seat—and told him he was to be the next president.

most a half million dollars in tax refunds in 1931 alone.

Congressman Withrow says, "These tax evasions of almost a billion dollars have been permitted by the Treasury Department by hiding the cases from the public by means of a maze of 'opinions,' 'regulations,' and 'interpretations.' Facts show that a very important decision of the Solicitor General of the United States in regard to these cases has been absolutely ignored by the treasury department for more than 20 years.

"It is time that these taxes are collected. It is the rankest sort of injustice and an outright crime that the farmer and working man of our country should lose his home and all of his little property because he is unable to meet his taxes, while the Treasury Department in direct contradiction to every law of the country, allows these foreign ship owners and large corporations to escape paying their just shares of the burden.

"The force of 'investigating' these cases should be stopped, and these tax evaders must be ordered to pay the tax immediately or pay the penalty which is provided in the law. The billion dollars thus added to the income of the country will certainly help to lighten the load of the ordinary citizen."

Citizens and Aldermen Talk Over Problems

Policy of Administration Reviewed in Address by Mayor Rummel

Menasha—The work of the city administration in pursuing a policy of economy within reason and within the taxpayers' ability to pay" was outlined by Mayor N. G. Rummel in a talk before the central organization of Menasha's five ward clubs in the library auditorium Tuesday evening.

The mayor opened his talk with an explanation of the city's finances when he took office in 1930 and the steps that had been taken since that time to eliminate deficits and to place city boards on a business basis. In addition to readjusting the finances, during the past two years, the administration succeeded in reducing the taxes from $30 to $24 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, he pointed out.

The figures, he stated, were no reflection on the previous administration, which had acted in good faith and in response to the demands of the taxpayers. He continued by reading the 1932 budget and the list of city salaries and explaining a number of entries.

Uniform Relief Plans

The mayor also spoke at some length on the problem of relief administration, and explained that through the Fox River Valley League of Municipalities a plan for uniform relief was being developed which would be completed soon. Although officials are often criticized for their work, provision of aid is an increasingly difficult problem, and needy residents, many of whom are former tax payers, must be given assistance.

In closing Mayor Rummel invited the ward club members to attend any or all meetings of the common council. Constructive criticism, based on facts, always would be welcomed by city officials, he added.

During the mayor's discussion of poor relief, Steve Kolinski maintained that the local grocers, rather than the chain stores, should be given the patronage provided through the poor department, but Alderman Heckrodt of the city poor committee explained that those receiving aid were required to sign an agreement to buy from the city for the amount advanced, if and when they are able, and under such agreement have the right to trade wherever they wish.

Reads Constitution

The meeting was opened by Frank G. Dexter, president of the central organization, who read the new constitution and called upon the several city officials for talks. The constitution will be submitted for a final action at the next meeting in July.

In addition to the mayor's address, short talks were given by nine aldermen, T. E. McGillan and Anton Brezinski of the First ward; George Sensenbrenner and Michael Small of the Second ward; Michael Grode and F. O. Heckrodt of the Third ward; Alderman Philip Michalkiewicz and Henry Knoelke of the Fourth ward; and Charles Grade of the Fifth ward.

McGillan, the first of the nine to speak, endorsed the ward club movement and said that such an organization could keep in close touch with affairs of the city and could help to eliminate "curb stone criticism." Citizens and taxpayers, he pointed out, have a right to know about civic affairs.

Scores Attacks

Alderman Brezinski, also of the First ward, said that he had been an Alderman for 12 years, and knew the workings of the common council and that he had been unfairly criticized at one of the ward club organization meetings. Attacks upon aldermen rather than cooperation with the city officials should not be a policy of the organization, he contended.

Later in the meeting Brezinski alleged that a Second ward alderman had been called "yellow" for not attending a ward meeting, but Dr. G. N. Pratt, commander of Hon. Lenz post of American Legion, immediately pointed out that the statements of an individual could not justly be taken as the opinion of an organization, and that the purpose of the central group's present meeting with city officials was to seek expressions of opinion in order that the citizen's organization could determine how to operate for the city's good.

Alderman Michael Small of Second ward questioned the high cost of school building construction and stated that as an alderman he had always worked for economy. Alderman George Sensenbrenner, also of the Second ward, continued with a brief endorsement of the voters' league.

Seek Suggestions

Michael George Third ward alderman, contended that a policy whereby poor charges are employed on street and sewer projects would return value to the taxpayers and would be preferable to merely extending relief. Alderman F. O. Heckrodt, also of the Third ward, said that the ward organizations were a step in the right direction for the citizens and added that the council and aldermanic committees would welcome suggestions and cooperation.

Philip Michalkiewicz, Fourth ward council member, endorsed the ward organizations, maintained that taxes should be lowered if possible and reemphasized Grode's contention that poor charges should be given employment on municipal projects. Alderman Henry Knoelke, Fourth ward, said he would welcome suggestions and cooperation from the citizens and Alderman Charles Grade, Fifth ward, questioned the wisdom of public improvement projects to provide employment, contending that the plan gave work to only a few men and that outside labor was used on some projects.

The necessity for action to preserve the city ball park property was brought to the group's attention by Michael Zielinski, Fourth ward club president, Zielinski explained that the fence and grandstand at the park were becoming dangerous ruins, and following considerable discussion, a motion by John Geiger, providing that the matter be brought by the league to the attention of the common council, was approved.

Dexter Submits Constitution to Guide Ward Clubs

Final Action Will Be Taken at Next Meeting of Central Group

Menasha — A constitution, on which action will be taken at a regular meeting next month, was submitted to the central organization of the five Menasha ward clubs by Frank G. Dexter, president, Tuesday evening.

The constitution provides that the name of the general organization shall be the Menasha Voters' league and the subject of the league "shall be to create and maintain interest on the part of Menasha voters in civic affairs to the end that the affairs of the city shall be properly administered by those charged with the responsibility of administration. Ward voters' clubs in each ward shall be open to any resident of voting age who signifies his interest by attending meetings, and election of officers in each of these clubs shall be within four weeks following spring elections each year. The president and secretary of each club, with five other elected representatives, shall comprise the executive committee and shall represent their group on the executive council of the voters' league.

May Cause Debate

One clause which is expected to be the basis of considerable discussion at next month's meeting provides that "No person holding an elective or appointive office in the city administration shall be eligible for membership on the executive committee, and any member of an executive committee becoming a candidate for or being elected or appointed to any such office shall be deemed to have resigned from the executive committee and a successor shall be chosen by the remaining members."

The central council, the governing body of the league, shall elect a president and secretary which shall be from different wards, and shall conduct its annual meeting on the second Tuesday of May of each year with regular sessions on the second Tuesday of each month. The executive council of the league may call special meetings and ward club sessions shall be held at the call of the club's executive committee. In executive council or committee sessions a majority and in ward club meetings 15 members shall constitute a quorum. Robert's Rules of order will be the adopted manual of procedure.

100 Boys Depart For Brigade Camp

Period at Onaway Island Will Last for 10 Days This Year

Neenah — A group of more than 100 members of Boys Brigade left at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning for Onaway Island where they will spend the next 10 days in their annual encampment. The boys and leaders were taken as far as Wau-paca by automobiles. From the landing at Grand View Hotel, the campers and luggage were transported to the island in the center of one of the lakes by boat.

The camp this year will be in charge of Capt. Leo Schubart and Lyall Stulp, the latter officer remaining for the entire period. Others who will assist in the various phases of camp management are the Rev. T. J. Reykdal, chaplain, Lester Mais, in charge of the band; Charles Neubauer, John Schneller, Earl Williams, Irwin Gunther, ex-Claugh, Robert Gillispie, Charles Abel and Aaron Dix. Mrs. Dick again will be in charge of the meals. The Rev. Walter R. Courtenay, new pastor at First Presbyterian church, will spend several days with the boys at the camp. S. F. Shattuck also will be at the camp a few days.

The daily program will start at 6:45 and close each day with taps at 9:30. During the day a program of athletics, drills, hikes, swimming, diving, chapel services, treasure hunts, sailing, boxing and various other activities will be carried out under direction of a capable corps of leaders. Sunday will be visiting day for the parents.

Announce Wage Cut in Kimberly-Clark Mills

Neenah — Kimberly-Clark Corporation has reduced wage rates in its Kimberly and Niagara, Wis., mills effective June 16, according to an announcement from the office.

Like the recent wage reduction in the Globe-Badger mills at Neenah this action at Kimberly and Niagara is taken only after an exhaustive job study and job evaluation program extending over many months, the officers said. Thus, there is no horizontal percentage of reduction but rather a downward wage movement in which the pay for each job is brought into more correct relationship to all other jobs in the plant, it was pointed out.

Realizing that many employees have suffered a reduced income over the past year due to short running schedules, it has been the announced policy of the corporation to resort to other means of meeting the effects of the depression before touching wage rates. This reduction, effective June 16, is the first general cut in hourly rates at Kimberly and Niagara.

Schneller to Speak to State Commerce Chamber

Neenah—F. J. Schneller, Neenah, will be the principal speaker on the Thursday evening program, June 23, at the Second district conference of Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Schneller will talk on "The Wisconsin Conservation Problem."

The district is composed of Dodge, Washington, Ozaukee, Portage, Wood, Waupaca, Outagamie, Manitowish, Calumet, Winnebago, Waushara, Adams, Marquette, Green Lake, Fond du Lac and Sheboygan-cos.

The principal speaker of the afternoon session will be Edward Kalley, executive director of the Wisconsin Taxpayers' alliance, formerly chairman of the Wisconsin state tax commission. He will talk on "Reducing Cost of State Government."

Julius Took Own Life, Coroner's Jury Determines

Investigation Ordered Because of Five Bullet Wounds in Body

Neenah—George Julius met death last Tuesday by suicide at his home on Harrison-st, according to the verdict returned Tuesday afternoon by the coroner's jury at the city hall.

While the jury was of the opinion from the start that it was suicide, certain things connected with the sudden death caused the investigation. The firing of five shots into the body and head, three of which were believed to have been fired while he was in the kitchen of his home and the other two, fired at close range in the attic of the home, looked suspicious. There were several bullets left in the 32-caliber revolver when it was found beneath the man's shoulder as the body lay on the attic floor.

Frank Menning, brother-in-law, the first to testify, stated he did not believe that Julius was despondent. He was satisfied that the case was one of suicide.

Mrs. Julius, widow, also stated she was sure the case was a suicide, but could give no reasons other than worry over ill health. She told of entering the home through a window, as all doors were locked when she returned from a walk with relatives.

John Thomas, a neighbor, told of responding to the screams of Mrs. Julius when she discovered the body of her husband. Dr. George Williamson, who was summoned to the scene, reported on the condition of the body. Officer Viggo Sorenson told of finger prints on the gun and cartridge box, which tallied with those of the dead man.

District Attorney Frank Keefe, in addressing the jury, stated that facts brought out in the hearing convinced him that the man had committed suicide in a determined effort to end his life.

The jury, empaneled by Coroner Martin Potratz, consisted of J. F. Gillingham, George Burnside, John Koepsel, William Klassen, Thomas Thomsen and P. L. Haeril.

Another Candidate For County Sheriff

Neenah—H. C. Paulson, Oshkosh, has taken out nomination papers as a candidate for Winnebago-sheriff. He is the seventh county man to seek this office at the fall election. Others are Eugene Decker, Edward Abell, George B. Young, Steve Gore, Hank C. Rusch and Peter Carlson.

Motorist Denies That He Drove While Drunk

Neenah—W. B. Casey, Milwaukee, arrested Tuesday evening on a charge of driving his car while intoxicated, pleaded not guilty Wednesday morning in Justice Harness' court. The hearing was adjourned to 2 o'clock on the afternoon of June 21. He was allowed to continue his trip Wednesday morning after depositing a $100 bond.

Bar Association Meets At Oshkosh Next Week

Neenah—Approximately 500 attorneys and their wives will be at Oshkosh next week to attend the fifty-fourth annual convention of the State Bar association of Wisconsin. The convention will be in session three days, June 22, 23 and 24. All details of the program have been arranged, including a special program for the women. Convention headquarters will be the Eagles clubhouse.

POLICE ARE CALLED

Neenah—The police department was summoned to the Chicago Northwestern station Tuesday evening by a report that someone had broken into a mail sack waiting to be placed on one of the evening trains. Investigation showed that paper had been torn from a package on one of the trucks and that no damage had resulted. The man who tore the paper had gone when the police arrived.

Y. W. C. A. will have its annual camp picnic at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Riverside park. A supper will be served, followed by campfire stunts, songs and games.

A group of local Modern Woodmen will go to Appleton Friday evening to attend a meeting of the lodge there at which installation will be conducted. The work will be conducted by the Beaver Dam drill team, accompanied by the drum corps from that city.

The afternoon and evening of Thursday, June 23, is chosen for the annual picnic of teachers, officers, senior and adult departments of First Presbyterian Sunday school at Riverside park. The committee on transportation consists of Miss Minnie Giffens and E. A. Severson who will see that all those who have no way to get to the park will be taken care of. On the program and sports committee are R. W. Wood, chairman, John Holzman, Miss VanCampen, Miss Sara Sande and Miss Maxine Schalk. The general committee, in addition to the above, includes Loren Schroeder, Donald Schalk, Earl Williams, F. W. Bentzen, Miss Clara Bloom and S. F. Shattuck.

The A. V. club met Tuesday evening at the Y. W. C. A. for a short business session after which new songs brought from the national convention by Miss Kathryn Urbane were learned. Dancing finished the evening's entertainment. Next week the club will hold its initiation service for all new members.

Many of the Y. W. C. A. activities are being transferred to the out of doors, with picnics by the school girl groups, hikes to the lakeshore and Brigade cabin. The Meneshaw Camp Fire Girls are holding their meeting at Menasha park Monday night the Good Time group drove to High Cliff for supper.

Neenah Physician Describes X-Ray At Club Meeting

Photographs Shown by Dr. S. D. Greenwood at Kiwanis Session

Menasha—Classifying its discovery as one of the greatest in modern medicine, Dr. S. D. Greenwood of Neenah explained the development and use of the X-ray at a meeting of the Menasha Kiwanis club in Hotel Menasha Tuesday noon.

Using a Crookes tube to illustrate his talk, Dr. Greenwood told how Roentgen discovered the X-ray in 1895 and how it had at first been used chiefly for bone diagnosis. Improved equipment, developed in following years, and further experimentation, added to the uses to which X-ray could be put. Many lives were lost in early experimentation with the ray, but screens and filters were later developed to eliminate so called X-ray burns, he explained. Pointing out that the therapeutic effects of radium and X-ray were practically the same, he touched briefly on their advantages, and mentioned the use of X-ray in the treatment of cancer.

At the conclusion of his talk, Dr. Greenwood exhibited and explained a number of X-ray photographs and both he and Dr. A. B. Jensen who was in charge of the program, responded to a number of questions by club members.

Broken Crusher Holds Up Work at Gravel Pit

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London—Work on Tuesday at the Beckert gravel pit south of the city was suspended due to a broken shaft in the crusher. The part is to be replaced at once, and work probably will be resumed Thursday. The crusher is the property of David Hintzke of this city. Dickinson-st. along the east side of the new high school, will be improved during the next few weeks. It has recently been graded and gravel will be used as a surface. A sidewalk will be laid along this side, continuing on west from the intersection of Dickinson-st. past the two houses which are city property and which are the residences of faculty members. This will connect the school with the athletic park a block distant from the school.

Council Adopts Milk Ordinance; Effective July 1

Four Inspections to Be Conducted Annually in New London

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—An ordinance regulating milk products sold within the city limits was adopted unanimously by the city council at a special meeting Tuesday evening. Two additions, one governing the violation regulating the exchange of bottles and willful violations of the ordinance, were the only changes made, since the original drafting and reading. The ordinance calls for four inspections annually, two by the state and two by the local board of health. Formerly the only inspection was by the state. Inspection of all grounds, barns, herds, utensils and equipment will prevent any possibility of the distribution of contaminated or impure milk, it is believed.

Protests were made by a few of the local milk dealers, who asked that the step be postponed. Another resolution was read by Mayor E. W. Wendlandt from the local union which body stated its belief that this was no time for the change.

Dr. F. J. Pfeifer of the city board of health answered this protest by explaining that the union had evidently not looked into the matter at length. The Chicago board of health rulings on milk have been so rigid, Dr. Pfeifer stated, that up to this time all persons who could not live up to the letter of the ruling sold their milk locally. As a result, he continued, the health of New London children has been continually threatened by the consumption of milk which was of a standard inferior to that used in Chicago. "Why," he asked, "should not our citizens and particularly our children be given the best, and why should New London be slow in taking this progressive step which has been used in all the cities nearby?"

After discussion as to the length of time to be given before the ruling goes into effect, it was decided that on July 1 the ordinance would become effective.

Broken Cog Wheels Prevent Opening of Bridge on Dorr-St

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The street commissioner's crew, in attempting to open the Dorr-st bridge Tuesday, found that broken cog wheels in the under structure prevented it. The broken parts will be repaired under the direction of Albert Gesse.

The bridge is annually opened at about April 15. This year, however, no attempt was made at that time because of the fact that the Dorr-st bridge was bearing all the traffic directed over it after the St. Pearl-st bridge was damaged. It is merely to follow a formality that the bridge is opened annually, since it has been several years since navigation on the river made it necessary.

May Get Home for Girl Scout Troop

Expect Barracks Building Will Be Loaned to Organization

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London—New London girl scouts may have permanent club rooms. The city council Tuesday evening received a petition signed by a number of citizens requesting that one of the barracks buildings be loaned to the organization. Mayor E. W. Wendlandt suggested that in view of the fact that the buildings should be moved to city property and that no site is available at present, he would seek the consent of the Waupaca-co board to have the buildings moved to the lots near the new high school which is owned by the county.

This property, it was pointed out, was once sold by the city to Waupaca-co for the purpose of the erection of a county normal school. The project failed to materialize and little use has ever been made of the lots. Mr. Wendlandt said he believed that if the scout barracks were moved there, kept in good condition and made a credit to the city and neighborhood the county would eventually approve the plan of returning the land to New London.

Mr. Wendlandt stated that an Appleton moving firm had offered to move the buildings at no charge save for the work of the men employed. New London has no firm of this kind. No decision as to which barracks will be moved to the county property after consent is asked was reached on Tuesday.

Following the wish of the board of education that the council make whatever disposition they desired in the matter of the remaining barracks the council voted to move the one remaining building formerly used as a music barracks to the tourist park on the Northport to become the residence of a needy family.

New London Golf Team Is Defeated By Clintonville

Return Match Will Be Played at Springvale Course on Aug. 7

Special to Post-Crescent
Clintonville—Twenty golfers from Springvale Golf course at New London came to the Clintonville Riverside Golf course to participate in an inter-city tournament on Sunday. The players were matched according to their handicaps and played individual contests but were grouped in foursomes. The Clintonville golfers pulled up a big lead on their home course and won easily by the uneven score of 52 to 8. A return match is to be played at New London on Aug. 7.

The pairings and the scores were as follows, with the New London player first: G. B. Meiklejohn, 0, L. A. Heuer, 3; Bob Monsted, 0, R. A. Greb, 3; Herb Schultz, 0, Fred Holmes, 3; Sam Morrison, 0, H. H. Heuer, 3; Robert Putnam, 1, Floyd Hurley, 2; G. H. Putnam, 0, Ben Miller, 3; William Butler, 2, Carl Schuber, 1; Al Kraus, 0, H. O'Connell, 3; Frank Kraus, 0, Rex Michaelis, 3; George Ribbany, 0, S. H. Sanford, 3; Ben Harquist, 2, S. J. Tilleson, 0; John Burns, 0, John McDonald, 3; William Stofor, 1, R. H. Larson, 2; Fred Schultz, 0, George McCauley, 3; Dave Flanagan, 1, Dr. J. W. Davis, 3; M. Dempsey, 0, Edgar Voelz, 3.

Harold Heuer shot the lowest score of the tournament with a 41 and a 44 or a total for 18 holes of 85, and Rex Michaelis was next low with a 44 and 45 or a total of 89. The low score for the visitors was 47 and 48 or a total of 93 by Henry McDonald.

Joe Krish, professional at the Riverside course set a new low record on Saturday by shooting a 34, two strokes under par, playing with R. H. Harris, Rex Michaelis and G. B. Felschow.

Thursday, June 16 is Ladies day at Riverside Golf course. The play will be a blind bogey tournament with a prize donated by Mrs. W. L. Gould. On Saturday, June 18 and Sunday, June 19, the one club tournament will be played by members of the club. On Sunday afternoon there will also be an other 2-ball mixed foursomes tournament. Players and their partners should register beforehand for this event so that foursomes may be arranged before starting time.

A Children's day program was given Sunday morning in the Congregational church. The Rev. N. E. Sinniger opened the program with a sermon especially for the children. Pool at Kimberly Opens for Summer

Hours for Use of Tank Are Set for Adults and Children

Special to Post-Crescent
Kimberly—The Kimberly out door swimming pool was opened for the summer season Saturday with a record crowd of swimmers in attendance. Two hundred children used the pool on Saturday. The pool has set hours for children classes in the morning and afternoon. The morning session starts at 9 o'clock and ends at 11, the afternoon class begins at 2 o'clock and ends at 4. The pool is open to adults from 9 in the morning until 12 o'clock in the evening. Club members use the pool free.

The play ground opened up with a stunt night program staged in back of the high school with directors Dud Courchane and Miss Janet Wells in charge. A parade down Sidney-st. Main-st and Kimberly-ave, in which 300 children took part, opened the program. The three patrols of the Kimberly Troop No. 19 of Boy Scouts, the Moose, Fox and Eagle patrols, participated against each other in a fire building and stretcher bearing contest. The

Yankees Down Cleveland Indians; Give MacFayden First Win

Foxx Gets Two Home Runs as Macks Win 10-5

St. Louis Browns Continue To Batter Washington Senators

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

THE Yankees, plowing through the west and building up an imposing lead in the American league, owe very little of their success to the costly lot of new talent turned over to Manager Joe McCarthy this spring.

Except for the pitching staff, the club that today looks like an even bet to race on unchecked to the pennant is the same that finished second a year ago.

Gone are Jack Saitzger and Frank Corsetti, the expensive young stars who were supposed to "make" the Yankees infield and in their places are Joe Sewell and Tony Lazzeri, veterans who have proved their worth. Corsetti still is around, but Saitzger has been sent to New York. Earl Combs is back at his old outfield post, playing some of the greatest ball of his career.

MacFayden is Winner
All three played steady ball yesterday to help the leaders make it three out of four from Cleveland, 7 to 6, and give Danny MacFayden his first victory in a Yankee uniform. The Indians knocked MacFayden from the hill in the ninth and for the second successive day had the tying run on third at the final out.

A triple steal gave the Yanks the winning run in the seventh.

The Athletics made it three out of four over Detroit 10 to 5, and kept pace with the leaders as Jimmie Foxx propelled his twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth home runs of the year. As Washington was dropping another to St. Louis, the victory boosted the Mackmen into a tie for second place. The St. Louis Browns' victory over Washington was their seventh in eight engagements this year. George Blaeholder fanned the Senators

Berlinger May Not Compete in Olympics

Philadelphia—(AP)—A gear works probably will derive the American Olympic team of the services of the track star who won the Sullivan award as the outstanding amateur athlete of 1931—Barney Berlinger.

Coach Lawson Robertson said today that Berlinger had found it impossible to take off from his business the time necessary to get in trim and that he probably would not enter either the Boston or Chicago tryouts.

For three years Berlinger monopolized the decathlon championship at the University of Pennsylvania and starred on the track team and in the classroom.

Red Sox Beat Ted Lyons
The Boston Red Sox beat Ted Lyons, and the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4 in 11 innings. Al Van Camp's double in the eleventh, followed by a pair of sacrifices, yielded the winning run.

Philadelphia and Cincinnati supplied all the action in the National league by dividing a doubleheader. The Phillies captured the first 6 to 5, when they got to Owen Carroll for five hits and scored three times after two were out in the ninth, but the Reds came back behind John Ogden's steady pitching to take the nightcap, 5 to 2.

Avoid Feud by Fining Players In White Sox Row

American League Rule Would Have Permitted 90 Day Suspensions

Cleveland—(AP)—Perhaps another famous baseball feud, such as the Ban Johnson-Comiskey affair, has been averted.

It looked like the makings of a first class row when four Chicago White Sox players engaged in an under-the-bleachers brawl with Umpire George Moriarty in Cleveland.

William Harridge, as president of the league, came from Chicago to investigate.

With a rule permitting a 90-day suspension to almost half the Chicago team on club house walls, it was recalled how the late Ban Johnson, then league head, incurred the lasting enmity of the late Charles Comiskey, White Sox owner, over an adverse ruling in awarding of a player.

Would the new league head have a "run in" with the new White Sox owner, Louis Comiskey, son of the "Old Roman?"

The elder Comiskey was a friend of Harridge. But so was he a friend of Johnson until the two had their difference.

But it all blew over when Harridge assessed fines upon Manager Lew Fonseca, Coach John Butler, Pitcher Milton Gaston and Catchers Charles Berry and Frank Grube, with brief suspensions to Gaston and Butler.

Golf Professionals
Trying Fresh Meadows
Flushing, N. Y., (AP)—Some of the nation's leading professionals are getting first-hand knowledge these days of the pitfalls of the Fresh Meadow country club course where the national open golf championship will be played next week.

Only Leo Diegel has managed to fracture par of 70 so far this year. Leo toured the tricky layout in 69 yesterday, carding birdies at the short ninth, short twelfth, and the eighteenth.

Until Diegel's round, Henry Ciuci's 71 stood as the best score over the course this season. Wiffy Cox was around in 74 and Al Ciuci in 73. Charles Guest found plenty of trouble in a round of 77. Ed Dudley also covered the course but spent his time practicing shots and turned in no score.

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

In Which a Caddy Expresses Himself
THE stories of women golfers competing in tournament play are regularly told after members of the fair sex hold a meet. And most of them are not stories that reveal the females as golfers who play strictly according in the rules or who indulge in sportsmanship to point where it might hurt.

Personally we have wondered what the coming young men who caddy for them think of their antics and such, and yesterday we were pleased when one young fellow whose name must forever remain hidden in the writer's files was moved to the point where he took his typewriter in hand and put his thoughts on paper.

The scene of the battle that prompted the caddy to write his story also must remain a secret for if the youngster were to be found out dire things might happen to him. If you'll forget about the rather rough spots in construction of the story we are sure you'll enjoy reading it.

"Amidst the flying turf and frantic almost delirious swinging of the driver the caddy viewed with mingled emotions the lady golfer who was participating in the medal handicap for low score.

"At the first tee the caddy had advised the lady to use a driver and she didn't object because the name appealed to her. Taking the driver she candidly peered around at the other three ladies of the foursome and at the grim faced caddy.

"She nervously approached the tee and tried to appear nonchalant as she tried a few practice swings. She took her position to drive off the ball—that is figuratively speaking. Then trying to attain a mental picture of her proper stance of left, arm stiff, right arm relaxed, eyes on ball, head down, feet—oh my gosh—she maniacally swung at the ball and—what a swing!

"The caddy's face became grimmer, the women of the foursome became more apprehensive, the verdant sod became sparer, but the ball remained deservingly perched on the tee.

"Wild-eyed she looked around at the caddy, now almost in sympathetic tears, and at the women in spasms of coughing and once again she attempted to hit that elusive ball.

"When the ball finally had been driven by members of the foursome down the fairway or into the

THE Telephone company softball team took its weekly trimming last night with the Coated Paper company administering the whipping. The score was 5 and 1 despite the fact the 'Phones outlived the winners 10 and 8 and turned in but three errors to five for the Coated.

Coated moved into a tie with the Fox River and Power company for first place by virtue of its win. The winners scored two runs in the first inning and held a three run lead before the 'Phones registered the first and only time. Two more runs in the sixth sewed up the game. The 'Phones threatened sev-

Indians Idle, Red Birds Move Into 2nd Place

Milwaukee Makes it Four Out of Five from Toledo Mud Hens

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Minneapolis Millers, doing very well as a road club and leading the American association by three games, moved into Toledo today bent on making the most of a five game series with sixth place club, before opening a set with Columbus next Monday.

The Millers, who hopped into the lead during their last home stand, have been doing a very workman-like job of holding their own on the road and protecting their lead. Success against the improving Mud Hens will enable Donie Bush's men to tackle the rampant Columbus club still leading the circuit.

The Red Birds yesterday took advantage of an Indianapolis day of idleness to bounce back into second place. The Birds took the final and odd game of the series with Kansas City, 6 to 4, largely on the strength of Bill Lee's good pitching. Lee held the Blues to six hits, and except for four Columbus errors, probably would not have been in trouble. Pat Crawford and Jack Riggs contributed home runs to the Columbus attack and Treadaway got one for the Blues.

Milwaukee trimmed Indianapolis' third place margin to one game by making it four out of five in the series with Toledo, 4 to 3. Forrest Twogood had a little better of Fred Shely in a pitching battle, until a minor accident forced him out of action in the ninth. Ralph Winegarner replaced the former University of Iowa athlete, and was clipped for the winning run.

The rest of the new schedule was Kansas City at Indianapolis, St. Paul at Columbus, and Milwaukee at Louisville.

Murphy Seeks 2nd Baseman For Appleton

Verstegen May Be Tried in Left; Youngster Is Hitting Well

APPELTON baseball team in the Fox River Valley league will return to the home lot Sunday afternoon when it meets Green Bay at Brandt park.

The Collegians may present a revamped front when the umpires lead the boys on their way, if one is to believe some of the stories making the rounds. And perhaps the boys too, may show a different lineup for their hitting has been bad, and Mr. Calhoun demands a winner.

Changes in the Appleton lineup have not been announced but it is said a new second sacker will be tried and there probably will be an outfield shift. Bobbie Verstegen will be supplanted at second for a new-comer whom Manager Leo Murphy is trying to contact.

The Collegian skipper has made every effort to keep the Little Chute youngster at second but his errors have put the club in a hole several times. Last Sunday he gumped up a double play that would have retired the side in the seventh and might have halted the four runs and a win for Shawano that followed.

Presents Problem

Verstegen presents a problem, however, for he is hitting better than a good many fellows on the club. His hitting is needed badly and he seems to be singing the apple when hits are wanted he may be sent to left field where Manager Murphy has been doing a lot of experimenting.

Indications are the reminder of the lineup will be the same, however, Ben's injured finger is healing rapidly and he should be able to take the mound. The club worked very well Sunday until the blow in the seventh, talked things up and battled for everything it had coming.

Green Bay will be headed by Lerty Joe Petcka who has been burning up the league in recent exhibitions even when losing. The Bay defeats have been attributed to failure on the part of Joe's mates to hit rather than any pitching weakness.

Expect Large Crowd

A large crowd is expected to see Sunday's game, the Bay having a good following, and Appleton a fair group of fans. Clintonville followers of Petcka probably will invade the city for the battle and with all of them the Appleton management should realize a few nickles.

The Collegians are holding several drills this week and as Manager Murphy is insistent that his players get back in the win column they've decided that there is no better time for it.

Majors Paring Player Rosters

Yanks Will Carry Ten Pitchers, Philadelphia Athletics Seven

New York — (AP) — Many players unable to win a regular place in the lineup this spring occupied an uneasy seat today as managers pinned their rosters to the big league limit of 25 players, effective at midnight.

Several clubs already were down to the minimum but others had put off the task until the last minute, hopes of making an advantageous sale or trade with their surplus material.

The New York Yankees, already down to the limit through the release of Jack Saltzger to Newark, present the most unusual roster in either league. Manager Joe McCarthy has decided to carry 10 pitchers in his fight for the American league flag. The Philadelphia Athletics, on the other hand, will attempt to win with only seven hurlers.

Brooklyn finally got down to the limit yesterday through the disposal of Fresno Thompson. Bruce Caldwell and Paul Richards, only two being sent out on option. The club gave Waite Hoyt, his outright release several days ago.

The Giants cleared decks by cutting pitcher Roy Parmelee to non-option on option and turning over Eddie Marshall to Montreal.

The outright release of Chris Iannicelli, veteran outfielder, placed the Cincinnati Reds within the unit while the St. Louis Cardinals sent outfielder Ray Pepper back to Rochester and the Chicago White Sox shipped Jack Rothrock, outfielder, to Toronto. The Detroit Tigers paid a man off their payroll when they traded Dale Alexander and Roy Johnson to Boston for outfielder Earl Webb.

Hornby Calls Jurges Best Shortstop in Game

Chicago — (AP) — The best shortstop in the game, with no reservations. That's the label that Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Cubs, is putting on 24-year-old Bill Jurges, a Brooklyn bank clerk whose back hitting kept him on the bench most of last season.

Temporary absence of Woody English at the start of the current campaign because of a fractured leg gave Jurges his new chance, and by the time English was back in harness it was newcomer Stanley Hack who had to make way for the infielder, vacating third base.

Jurges covers more ground, takes more stops, makes faster, accurate throws from any position than any shortstop I can name," said Hornsby.

"It looks as though he's going to earn to hit, too," the Cub boss continued. "He has put on weight, isn't hitting on bad balls as he used to, and has more confidence."

Metcalf May Better His Records in Sprint Events

BY FRANCIS J. POWERS (Copyright 1932)

CHICAGO — (CPA) — There have been few sprinters as powerful physically as Ralph Metcalf of Marquette university, who broke three world's record and tied another in the N. C. A. A. track and field meet at Stagg field. The colored Marquette monsoon weighs 185 pounds, stands five feet, eleven inches and possesses an almost perfect pair of legs. When under full speed he runs with a long, rhythmic stride and fatigue is unknown to him.

Metcalf known to him.

Metcalf is rather a slow starter but his strength enables him to make up for that deficiency and there are few sprinters in the world today who can keep pace with him particularly in the 220 yard or 200 meter dashes. Only a sophomore, Metcalf has improved his start tremendously under the coaching of Conrad Jennings and with the assistance of Jack Tierney another Marquette sprinter. Jennings believes that by another year Metcalf will have as good a start as any runner and that he may set further records.

After Metcalf had run the 220 dash in 20.5 seconds; the 200 meter in 20.3 seconds; the 100 meter in 10.2 and the 100 yard sprint in 9.5 he was asked if he realized he was traveling at a record breaking speed.

"Running Easily"

"No, but I knew I was running easily and when I run without effort I know I am running in good form."

The finish of the 220 yard straight away at Stagg field is within a few yards of the concrete bleacher wall and a net is erected to prevent sprinters from crashing into that barrier. Most runners have a tendency to slow up as they cross the finish line in the 220 and that is what Metcalf did when he broke the record for that event. That was proved by the fact he took two-tenths of a second more for the 220 than the 200 meters, which were clocked in the same race. On a better track he might have shattered the record still more.

Most coaches who saw Metcalf run at Stagg field were of the opinion he is the outstanding sprinter in the United States, at least. While he may have no more actual speed than Frank Wykoff of Southern California or Bob Keisel of California he does have more stamina and furthermore he runs best in the hottest of weather. Which should favor him in the Olympic games.

Next to Metcalf's sensational sprinting the hurdles were the outstanding events on the N. C. A. A. program. The outcome of the two timber races made it all even between Jack Keller of Ohio State and George Saling of Iowa for the spring season. In the recent Big Ten games Keller won the high hurdles while the lows went to the Iowan, when the Ohio State star pulled up lame.

At Stagg field, Saling won the high hurdles in the record time of 14.1—three-tenths seconds—under the old accepted world's mark. In that race Keller lost his stride on the first barrier but staged a valiant battle to finish third. The Buckeye was boiling with rage when called for the low hurdles and he topped those in 22.7 seconds to beat the old mark by three-tenths of a second. Saling gave him a great battle for the first 120 yards of the lows but after that Keller's superior speed showed him to the front. Keller and Saling easily are the outstanding American hurdlers. The Hawkeye has better form in topping the sticks but Keller is the better sprinter. Between them they should give United States some valuable points in the Olympiad.

Stepenfitchit Picked For American Derby

Chicago — (AP) — Mrs. J. H. Whitney's Stepenfitchit today had succeeded to the position of favorite for the American derby, Washington Park's $30,000, which will be decided Saturday.

The Whitney star arrived late yesterday just in time to be installed as the early public choice, for J. H. Loucheim's Economic, favorite since the withdrawal of Burgoon King, had joined the list of thoroughbreds removed from consideration by injuries.

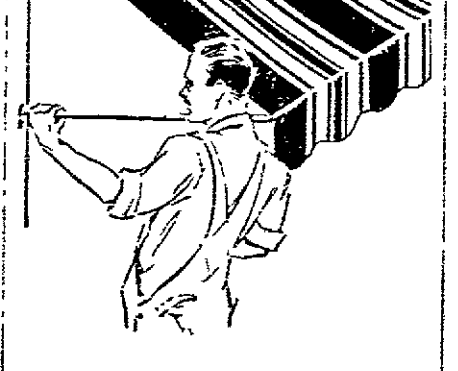

Economic developed lameness in his left foreleg after going through a workout and it was not believed that he will be in shape to go after the big purse. Ill fortune already had eliminated Top Flight and Evening, both considered powerful contenders.

WEEK'S RESULTS

Eagles 8, Foresters 8 (called in 12th, darkness).

The Eagle and Forester softball teams in the Fraternal league battled 12 long innings last night and then quit with the score tied 8 all as the moon failed to light up the grounds well enough to permit further play. Gressen toiled for the Eagles and whiffed 12 batters, gave eight walks and five hits; Griesbach and VanRyzin worked for the Foresters, the former getting four strikeouts, seven hits and four walks.

Two runs in the second frame and three in the third gave the Eagles a 5 and 0 lead. The Foresters came back with two in the fourth and one in the sixth to make the score 5 and 3. A run in the sixth gave the Eagles a 6 and 3 lead that went by the boards when the Foresters scored three runs on a walk, error, walk and no hits.

One run in the eighth gave the Eagles a lead but the Foresters tied it up again. The tie was repeated in the ninth and that was the way it ended, 8 and 8. The Foresters threatened in the tenth but a play at third nipped the run. In the eleventh the Eagles started with a double but a double play stopped that rally.

Fraternal league managers will meet at 7:15 Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. according to President Earl Bates.

At one time or another during the 1932 season the Kansas City Blues have lost almost every member of the squad through injuries.

4th Ward Married Men Lose to Singles, 20-19

A seven game series between the Fourth ward married and single men softballers has been agreed upon, the team winning four games to be feted by the losers who will furnish plenty of refreshments. In one game played recently the singles beat the married men by a score of 20 and 19. Boyle of the singles drove out a home run in the last of the seventh with the bases loaded. Doro starred for the married men with two triples and three doubles accounting for five runs. Batteries for the married men were LeMere and Green; for the singles Vander Linden and Stoeger.

Canzoneri, Dublinsky Perform at Chicago

Chicago — (AP) — Tony Canzoneri, world lightweight champion, and Harry Dublinsky, a promising Chicago youngster, will meet in the opening bout of Chicago's newest outdoor battle-ground, the west side boxing club, tomorrow night.

The bout will be a non-title affair listed for ten rounds, and Canzoneri, although not inclined to over-exert himself in non-title bouts, was an 8 to 5 favorite today. Dublinsky, a scarp boxer, but indifferent puncher, hopes to catch the champion in one of his easy-going moods, to further his own importance among the lightweights.

BETWEEN RUSH HOURS FELLY TALKS ABOUT OIL

"Cars are like salads," Alfred Felly tells R. J. Casey, famous Chicago News reporter, in his campus restaurant at Madison, Wisconsin. "You've got to lubricate them." He gives Casey a recipe not found in the cook book. Outside, a Chrysler sedan waits to take him home.

An Interview by ROBERT J. CASEY Chicago Daily News Reporter

WHATEVER the cook books may have to say about the best lubricant for a skillet, many a student of the University of Wisconsin owes his morning flapjacks to something besides lard substitute.

Take the word of Alfred Felly for it, and Mr. Felly ought to know inasmuch as he is the compiler of the flapjacks.

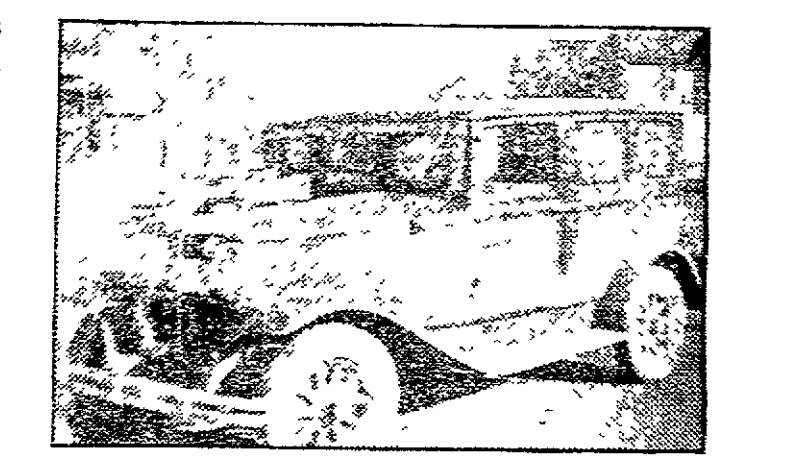

Mr. Felly runs a restaurant at 814 University Avenue, Madison, Wisconsin, opens his place early in the morning and is the last one to leave it at night. Between there and home he drives a Chrysler.

"I got to using Iso-Vis Oil because somebody told me it would let you start your car on cold winter mornings and wouldn't burn out on hot summer days," Mr. Felly told his interviewer. "That point may not mean much to some people but it means everything to me. My garage isn't heated and many winters before I began to use Iso-Vis I had trouble getting out of it. I open up here at 5 o'clock in the morning—in both summer and winter. At that time there aren't any cars or busses running out this way. If my car stalls it means no breakfast for quite a lot of customers.

"I've driven this car 39,000 miles in the past three years—mostly between here and home—and I've never had any sort of engine trouble with it. The valves have never been ground. If there's any carbon in the motor, I haven't heard about it yet . . ." He spun the starter and let the engine idle.

"The car tells its own story," he said. "There's no more noise in that motor than there was the day I got the car. Listen to it for yourself. Cars are like salads—you've got to lubricate them."

Mr. Felly's 39,000 trouble-free miles prove again what Iso-Vis has demonstrated in laboratory tests and in A. A. tests on the Indianapolis Speedway—Positive Lubrication Protection. Iso-Vis (a Standard Oil product) will not thin out from dilution. See the Ball and Bottle Test at Standard Oil service stations and dealers.

Mother Should Advise Son on Pleasing Wife

And by Same Token Father Should Tell Daughter How to Be Good Wife

BY DOROTHY DIX

When a young couple are about to be married it is always the mother who counsels the girl about how to manage her husband and the father who takes his son aside and hands him a few tips about how to get along with his wife. This is a mistake. The advice comes from the wrong parties. It is the father who should advise his daughter about the best way to handle a husband and the mother who should whisper to her son the magic formula for making his wife act out of his hand.

For only a man knows how a husband wants a wife to treat him, and what a wife should do and leave undone to keep him in love with her and glad he married her. And only a woman knows what qualities in a man makes him a good husband and cause her to spend her life on her knees thanking heaven for having bestowed him upon her as a blessing beyond her deserts.

Acting upon this theory a woman, speaking out of her own experience, said to her son:

"My boy, you are going to be married and I know that you intend to be a good husband and make your wife happy. Most men enter marriage with the same altruistic ideals. Probably not a man in a billion marries a girl with the malevolent design of breaking her heart and wrecking her life and turning the world into cinders, ashes and dust for her.

"Yet many men do this, as witness not only the number of divorces, but the girls that we know that two or three years of marriage have turned from gay, light-hearted flappers into sad-faced, broken-spirited women. And the tragedy of it is that it is often the husband's blunders that bring about this state of affairs. They have sinned ignorantly just because they didn't know what it is that women ask of marriage, nor what to do to keep a woman happy in it.

"It is in order that you may avoid making these mistakes that I am asking you to listen to your mother's voice and be guided by her. The first thing I want to impress upon your mind is that if you will marry, be sure that you are in marriage, the big things will look after themselves. Women set an inordinate value on trifles and they put more stress on words than deeds.

"When a woman speaks of a good husband she doesn't mean a man who is fat and indolent and who provides his wife with an unlimited charge account and a fine house and real pearls. She means a man who pulls out his wife's chair for her at the table, who sends her roses and candy, who never forgets an anniversary, and who compliments her on the new way she is doing her hair. If you want to keep your wife blind to your faults all you have to do is to kiss her on the eyes, and as long as you take interest in holding her hands she will work it to the bone for you. The happy wives are not those who have the best husbands. They are those lucky women who have the best love-makers.

"Then, when you marry, remember that you are asking a girl to give up many dates for one, and to be a dutiful wife. She has been accustomed to the attentions and the flatteries and the love-making of a host of admirers who were all eager to show her a good time. Let her down easily. Substitute for the balance as well as you. Take her romance from her gradually. Don't act as if you thought that being married to you was all the pleasure and excitement that any female could crave.

"Don't drop all of your love-making at the altar with a suddenness that will jar your bride's sweet tooth loose. On the contrary, woo her more assiduously than you did when you were courting her and make her feel that a husband lover is worth a dozen of the common garden variety. The first two years will settle whether you will have a peaceful and contented wife on your hands, the balance of your life, or a happy and contented one, and it all depends on how well you sell yourself to her and whether you make her feel that marriage is worth what it cost her.

"Then try to develop her into the sort of wife you want. Most brides are putty in their husband's hands, and if men would take as much trouble and use as much patience in training their wives as they do in training their office girls, we should not have so many gentlemen beating upon their breasts and demanding their fate in being married to women who are poor housekeepers, or a drag on them, or whom do not understand them.

"If you want your wife to be a good housekeeper, praise her cooking. Talk over menus with her. Take a real heart interest in everything around the home. If you want her to be a thrifty manager discuss household finances with her. Help her budget. Show her how to save. Tell her what a wonder she is when she cuts down expenses.

"If you want her to be a companion, read with her. Discuss the subjects you are interested in with

Child Needs To Be Taught At Right Age

BY ANGELO PATRI

The children who are between eight and eleven years of age, roughly speaking, are not understanding features in the sense that they can be approached through their understanding, their reasoning and judgment. They have not yet arrived at that stage of power. These half-fledged children need routine. It is necessary that they follow a steady day by day program of work and play. Their meals are to be served on schedule time, their bed time is set. The round of duties has a sort of monotonous variety that keeps them growing steadily and evenly. There must be no absences from school, no excuses for neglect of work. No lapses in health habits.

This is the time to teach rules and tables and definitions. A few words of explanation may be necessary if they ask about it. But do not make the mistake of trying to explain long division, or inversion of the divider in fractions, or why two and two are four and not something else. It is so and that's all about it. Grammar rules need few words. The examples, the rules, the application given in steady order and drilled. That is the right way to teach eleven years.

When a child of this period does what is wrong make no sermon about it. Make no attempt to appeal to his reason and understanding. If he understood WHY he was not to shove a weaker boy down stairs, or snatch an apple from a fruit stand as he passed, or break a window with a stone, he would not do either or any of them. But he does not understand. He is to be told in as few words as possible that it is wrong to take advantage of a weaker person; wrong to take what is not one's own; wrong to injure another's property. But cut the story short and make the application long.

He is to show by his conduct, in practical ways, that he has accepted your word that what he did was wrong. He may take charge of the weaker boy and protect him for a while. He makes good the pilfering. He repairs the damage. Then you forget it and quickly.

Much trouble is caused by trying to explain the unexplainable to children of this growth. Teachers and parents try to explain the child's duty to society. They try to explain rules the basis of which lie far back in the growth of the race. They try to explain God and the church and the state. They try to explain life itself to growing children and they lose their own way and bewilder the children.

Accept children as children. When they reach the stage where explanations carry meaning, they will ask for them and weave them into their mental fabric. If you force such processes upon them they cannot use them at all and you weaken the next stage of growth, the reasoning, judging, acting stage.

"Don't explain it to me and I'll know it," said one little girl. And she will. So much easier to follow than growth than to force it, if you will but consider.

her. Keep her jacked up mentally. Make her feel that she is an active factor in helping you to succeed. Make her your playmate.

"There are mighty few women who won't try to live up to their husbands' ideals of them and when a woman slumps and becomes nothing, it is nearly always because her husband expects nothing of her.

"Don't fall into the foolish idea that the way to be a good husband is to keep your wife in idle luxury. See to it that she has plenty of work to do, good, hard constructive work. That will keep her happy and interested and out of mischief. Be fair and generous to her allowance of her own that she doesn't have to account to you for.

"And, most of all, son, be tender to her. Every woman's heart's desire is for a husband upon whose strength and tenderness she can lean as she can upon the understanding mercy of God, and unless she has that marriage is a failure to her. Selah."

CHIC APPEARANCE HELPS SECRETARY TO BE COOL AND COMFORTABLE AT HER WORK

By NEA Service

The business of keeping cool and collected in office life depends to a great extent on the clothes you wear, according to heads of the Katharine Gibbs School, which is devoted to turning out secretaries—perfect in appearance and letter perfect in performance.

A smart appearance pays in a decidedly higher wage for experienced as well as inexperienced business women and is a well-recognized factor in getting a job. In order to make dressing on a salary business woman, there is this silk ensemble (right) comprising a coat with cape sleeves and a dress of black and white printed silk. The crepe coat, unlined, may be worn over other dresses, too. When short sleeve dresses are worn, long sleeves must be added to the costume.

There are some fashions which the business woman must take and many that she must leave alone. For instance, the all white costume. Fashionable as it is the office worker will find that it is more trouble and dried by morning. The hat is a navy blue rough straw which can be worn with a silk outfit as well.

Everyone has a silk office dress and most business women are especially fond of polka dots. A dress center, has shoulder epaulets and tiny organdie cuffs with a hand rolled edge. The bow at the neck is of organdie too—quickly laundered and replaced with minimum trouble.

Then for the special best workaday costume that may be worn on those nights when the tired business woman dines with the tired business man, there is this silk ensemble (right) comprising a coat with cape sleeves and a dress of black and white printed silk. The crepe coat, unlined, may be worn over other dresses, too. When short sleeve dresses are worn, long sleeves must be added to the costume.

Among the don'ts for business women is found the fashion of red finger nails. Jewelry, if it is elaborate, is also forbidden. Cosmetics may be used wisely but not too much which shows the change in the secretary of today and the secretary of before the war.

than it is worth. Laundry work must be done almost every night if it is to appear spotless and fresh. Soiled and mussed white dresses are of course a reason enough for putting even an efficient stenographer on the firing line.

Summer Dress Hints

Perishable trimmings like feathers and white flowers on hats hardly withstand being caught in more than one summer shower. Remember in purchasing shoes that light leathers and light fabrics are not advocated for economical dressing. Hose should be bought in three pair lots. There's a non-wrinkle lining that is recommended for office wear in dark colors. Chiffons for office wear are decidedly unapproved. Tailored sheers are however, suggested for hot weather.

THE STORY OF SUE

By Margery Hale

RUTH ASKS DALE TO DELAY WEDDING

"WILL I marry you?" Ruth repeated Dale Courtney's words slowly. She had thought that she wanted to hear them—some day—but their suddenness came as a shock.

"But—why?" she asked stupidly, knowing that it was a foolish question. Still, she wondered why he had proposed. There was Jane who had just come home. Jane who had taken possession of him so innocently.

"Why, dear?" he asked, and she noticed that his eyes were very serious now. His lips didn't laugh. "Because I love you. Isn't that reason enough?"

He was very near. She wondered why she hesitated. Then she remembered the sick-sensation that had seized her when she had thought that he was Jane's. But he wasn't. He didn't want Jane. He wanted her. And suddenly she was breathless. Throated Mayoe it was sudden. But she knew that she had wanted to hear the words that Dale had just spoken.

She went into his arms then, clung closely, felt his lips upon her hair, her cheeks, let them and her lips. She forgot Jane, forgot the job as cook. Forgot Sally and the stolen money.

"I don't want to interrupt," she said, "but it looks as though I am losing a perfectly good cook before she even starts. Why didn't you tell me, Dale? Why did you want a job, Ruth?" She let the name slip out unconsciously.

"I didn't know it myself until just now," Dale answered. "Or rather Ruth didn't. I've known what I wanted for a long time."

Ruth caught a glimpse of her face in the old polished mirror. Eyes star-bright. Lips, red and tremulous. She was beautiful. She caught her breath at her own reflection.

"Then I'll have a new cousin," Jane was saying.

"A cousin?" Ruth asked. "Of course. Didn't you know that Dale and I are some sort of cousins? That's why we kiss each other good bye and do foolish things together. Oh, good land, did I make you think that he was the plum in the pudding or something of that sort? I'm sorry. He's nice."

Her mouth curled into a mischievous smile. "But I would not have him in my particular pie."

"Then I didn't search for dishes," she said. "They went off to eat and celebrate. On one thing Ruth was firm. She wouldn't be married until Jane was started in her shop.

"I can't," she pleaded. "I have to pay back a debt anyway, and besides I want some time to be engaged. Please, Dale." She didn't, though. She wanted to be married at once. Then she caught her breath. Was it because she really loved him that she felt this way? Or was it because she wanted to be safe? To be sheltered and cared for as Sue and Corinne and Sarah? She couldn't marry him until she knew. She thought that she loved him—she knew that she loved him, she corrected herself—but she must have no doubts.

The rest of the day was a daze. A misty, happy one that held enchantment that made the world gay and bright and happy. When she drove up to Jane's and Sue's house in Dale's car that evening she wondered if it had been just a few hours since she had gone down the walk, worried, heart sick, scared.

"I'll never be afraid of anything again," she said suddenly.

"Of course you won't, darling," Dale answered. "Why should you be?"

As Ruth opened her lips to answer she noticed that Mr. Raynor's car was parked in the drive.

Hot Packs Soothe And Relieve Eyes

BY ALICIA HART

Several women have written for directions for making and using eye packs.

There are two reasons why these letters come at this time. One is that bright early summer sunshine always hurts the eyes until they become accustomed to it. The second is that these little brats of hats expose the eyes cruelly. No wonder eyes hurt!

Correct to Pre-empt Bid On this Type of Holding

The great majority of Contract hands lend themselves to approach bidding—to bids which reveal not only the strength held by our partner, but the strength held by our opponents as well. Occasionally, however, in the course of a Contract session, hands occur which do not lend themselves to such treatment. In this type fall all kinds of Forcing bids on hands in which our honor holding is so great that we cannot reasonably expect our partner to be able to respond because lacking in honor strength, nor can we hope that our opponents will overcall, because their hands, too, must be well-laden with honor holdings. This is the basic reason for using Forcing bids in opening, the bidding, and these bids, although correctly designated as Forcing, are in reality only gigantic Approach bids. For the Opening suit bid of two implies primarily that the bidder is uncertain as to the final declaration, but wants the assistance of his partner, however weak his holding may be, in determining what is the best final bid on the combined hands.

With another type of hand, however, the Opening bidder has no doubt, so far as his holding is concerned, as to what suit should be named as trump. This is a hand of inflexible type, with a strong, long, and predominant trump suit, and generally speaking, the best results will be obtained with such holdings by the use of Pre-emptive or game bids.

An interesting example of this type of hand occurred in a recent Duplicate game at the Wissahickon Bridge Club in Philadelphia, Pa. Where the hand was opened with a Pre-emptive bid of five clubs, five clubs were made. Where the hand was passed, East and West were able to get together for a game contract of five diamonds, which was also made, and South then faced the undesirable choice of bidding six clubs out of a clear sky, for what might be a penalty loss, or permitting his opponents to make game.

South—Dealer. East and West vulnerable.

The Correct Bidding: (Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South West North East
5♣ (1) Pass (2) Pass (3) Pass (4) 1—South has an ideal Pre-emptive or game bid of five clubs. The hand apparently cannot lose more than 1 club trick, 1 diamond trick and 3 heart tricks. If doubled and these tricks are lost, it is only a bagatelle of 400 points, which is further lessened by the score for honors held by South.

2—West, vulnerable, or, in fact, not vulnerable, would be courting a heavy penalty to overcall with five diamonds. While South has disclosed the inflexible nature of his hand, he knows nothing about the distribution of either North's or East's cards.

3—Of course, North passes.

4—Nor can East venture to overcall with five spades.

To pass with South's holding, of course, results in East and West finding the fit of their hands in diamonds at once. East and West can make five diamonds, losing only one heart and one diamond. North and South can make five clubs, and South, in view of his long holding and freakish distribution, should boldly, but correctly, overbid to shut out the exchange of adverse information.

TODAY'S POINTERS

Pre-emptive bids at Contract are ordinarily made on hands of an inflexible type—that is, hands which require that, regardless of partner's holding, they shall be played with a pre-determined suit as trump.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

The author of a mystery story is generally supposed to pull all of his cards on the table—to let the reader have every bit of information that the master-mind detective has, so that the reader, if he is smart enough, can figure out who the guilty party is without waiting for the author to tell him.

Authors seldom play fair, though. Usually they hold back just two or three little clues; the crucial ones, without which the right conclusion can't be reached. Indeed, they do this almost invariably, even in those books which advertise that all the dope is given to the reader without reserve.

Consequently it is refreshing to find a book that really does play fair; such a book, for instance, as "The Greek Coffin Mystery," by Ellery Queen, which is about the only detective story I know of that lets the reader in on absolutely everything that goes on.

This story deals with the funny business that begins at the funeral of a Greek art dealer. First his will vanishes, then they dig up his

My Neighbor Says—

When cooking cabbage, place a small pan with vinegar and pepper on the stove where it will simmer while the cabbage is cooking. In this way you will hardly detect any cabbage odor.

Very thin slices of orange are nice in lemonade or ginger ale punch.

To renovate a soiled couch hamper, try painting it any desired color. The canvas will take the paint very well. Two coats are generally needed.

TUCKED NECKLINE IS CLEVER

A simple and neat affair in this darling printed crepe silk.

It is given new distinction by its pin tucked neckline and reglan sleeve cut.

The skirt is just slightly flared. It is very slenderizing, cut with gores at the front.

And to make it! You'll simply be amazed at the extremely easy manner in which it is put together.

Style No. 2551 may be had in sizes 16, 18 years. 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

White tub silk in plain or crinkle crepe promises to be very popular. Pastel tub silks, pique and sheer or sportswear linen are also good.

Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 35-inch material with ½ yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Price of Pattern 15 Cents.

Midweek Business and Trade Statistics Are More Encouraging

New York — (P) — The stock market turned upward in the final days today, and closed with a strong tone, despite a moderate setback in mid-afternoon. Many net gains ranged from 1 to 3 points. The turnover of about 1,200,000 shares was the largest so far this week.

Stocks registered numerous gains as bonds went ahead under leadership of U. S. governments and bank stocks were strong over the counter. Principal commodity markets also developed a better tone.

Shares up about 2 to 3 included such issues as American Telephone, American Gas, Canadian National, American Tobacco, "B" Liggett and Myers, "B" Santa Fe, Macy, Union Pacific, Eastman, National Biscuit, Public Service of N. J., and others. Peoples Gas and Detroit Edison rose about 4 and 5, and Auburn pushed up several points. Kansas City Southern preferred gained 4.

The midweek business and trade statistics were if anything somewhat more encouraging than last week. Electric power production in the week ended June 11 was off 11 1/2 per cent from last year, as against a shrinkage of more than 12 throughout April and May. "Iron Age" said steel production was off a point to 19 per cent capacity, but spoke of a possible summer upturn.

Among the individual shares, Auburn continued to grate rather wildly, despite Prof. Ripley's characterization of the market performance of that issue as "outrageous" before the senate committee yesterday. Macy advanced sharply on ordering of the regular dividend, and Kansas City Southern preferred dividend helped by payment of 19-cent dividend although this was half the previous payment.

The New York stock exchange has approved the application of the Marmon Motor Car Co. for the listing of 234,800 additional shares of no par common stock, issued in connection with the company's plan for reorganization.

While seemingly at variance with its policy of requiring fuller information from corporations whose shares are listed, the action of the New York stock exchange in granting permission to the Hershey Chocolate Corp. to omit all figures on net sales from published reports is regarded by Wall Street as a reasonable concession in view of unusual competitive conditions. Similar permission has been given recently to other food companies such as General Foods and National Dairy Products. The step was taken because the companies declared that publication of the sales figures placed them at a disadvantage compared with their competitors.

Traders Squeeze Advance in Hogs

Cattle Trade Has Slow Start; Sheep Receipts Largely Lambs

Chicago — (P) — Traders squeezed another 5-10c advance out of buyers who sought hogs for slaughter on the early market in the local stockyards. Receipts were held down to a meager total of 17,000 head, 248,900 hogs during the first half of the current week showed a shrinking of 12,000 as compared with the previous week. Uneven dressed pork prices did not give sellers much comfort.

Packers, who divided 5,000 hogs received on through billing, did not take an active part in the opening market. Shippers and small killers paid strong to be higher prices for choice 180 to 220 lb. animals, bidding up to $3.50 for picked weights. Packing sows were wanted and moved up 3-10c, smooth ones selling around $3.10.

Cattle trade had a slow start, though statistical conditions were favorable for a firm market. Receipts in the sheds ran heavily to lambs, most of them showing good to choice quality. Packers checked in 4,300 lambs billed straight from outside points. Sellers had to look to local killers for an outlet for practically all of the 4,500 lambs available in the open market. Steady prices were quoted at the outset.

Purchases Of Wheat Brings Higher Price

Eastern Speculators Making Buys; Liverpool Quotation Helps

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago — (P) — Aggressive buying credited to a noted eastern speculator did much today to bring about higher prices for wheat.

Around 2,000,000 bushels divided into 300,000 bushels were said to have been purchased by him in a few minutes. Late returns in Liverpool wheat quotations were a contributing bulwark influence.

Purchasing of wheat was in large amounts, and was led by houses with eastern connections. At the moment, pit offerings were relatively scarce, and quick jumps carried the market up almost 2 cents from early bottom figures that equaled the season's low. Word that 45,000 bushels of corn had been taken here for export helped to lift wheat.

Bulls in wheat contended that the market had been oversold, and that rallies were overdue on technical grounds alone. Meanwhile, advices were current that although the condition of domestic spring wheat is present was good, uneasiness prevailed regarding likelihood of hot weather in July causing a dust scare or damage from blight. Growth was reported sick and soft, and it was asserted that such a stand deteriorated fast if weather conditions were not more favorable. Corn and oats responded to wheat price gains and to export buying of corn.

Provisions were firmer with hog values and with cereals.

Grain Notes

Chicago — (P) — A scattered business was reported as having been done in Manitoba wheat yesterday and there was also a little Canadian rye sold for export during the day, but the foreign demand as a whole was relatively slow and purchases were said to be limited to immediate requirements. A sale of 16,000 bushels white corn was reported for export at Baltimore.

If the weather continues favorable, harvesting of wheat in Kansas will be general by June 30, according to the government. Weekly weather crop report of that state shows wheat in the northeast and south central counties was cut with a binder last week. Much of the crop in the south half of the state was reported to have begun to ripen. The report indicates improvement to the crop by rains in the past few weeks, with weather the past week favorable for filling but also conducive to Hessian fly development. Corn is well cultivated and making good growth.

Lafayette, Ind., in a report to Jackson Brothers and company, indicates serious Hessian fly damage around Crawfordville, where wheat straw is falling fast and some fields are so badly hurt that farmers will not harvest them.

The Canadian government weekly crop summary, received after the close of trading, claimed weather and soil conditions in Alberta were almost ideal for wheat, while recent rains in southwestern Manitoba and southern Saskatchewan had greatly improved conditions there.

Hoover Cheered By Delegations

Battle Over Prohibition Plank Expected Tonight in Chicago

reminded that the five minute rule on debate would be enforced.

"Of course we may give a little longer time to the leading speakers at first," he said, "but after that the five minute rule will be enforced."

Before reaching the prohibition plank the whole resolutions committee today adopted after sharp debate a declaration condemning party irregularity in congress. It was a slap at the Republican independents and went through with votes of Michigan and South Dakota in opposition.

Expectations

However, returning from the Convention hall, Chairman Fess of the national committee found that the resolutions committee closed. At the Congress hotel had not even reached the prohibition plank at 1:30 p. m. He then announced that the plank would be made available at 6 p. m. apparently still confident of the outcome in the whole committee.

Learning of the announcement of the plank, Senator Buchanan left the resolutions committee, and told newspapermen he himself had not seen the plank yet. He was not put on a special sub-committee which drafted the platform in last night's all-night session.

Going into the afternoon the resolutions committee reached the plank relief plank, one of the first controversial proposals before it.

Oppose Compromise

Prohibition repeal advocates declared opposition to the administration resubmission compromise today as the Republican platform committee took up the proposed amendment early in the morning by a sub-committee.

The administration plank sent along by the sub-committee provided for resubmission to the people of a substitute for the 18th amendment.

It won a viva voce vote. Ambassador Edge of France, New Jersey's representative on the sub-committee, voted against the proposal and joined with Senator Buchanan of Connecticut to fight it in the whole committee.

However, administration forces held command as the prohibition controversy neared the convention floor.

Determined to avoid a long drawn battle on the floor, friends of the submission plank arranged for early state conferences on it to acquaint delegates of its provisions.

Meanwhile, Pennsylvania delegation voted for a state repeal declaration but agreed to keep hands off the submission compromise in the national convention.

James M. Hazlett of Philadelphia, offered the resolution to instruct the state committee for repeal and immediate modification of the Volstead act. It carried 55 to 17. It made no attempt to upset yesterday's action by the delegation favoring a national resubmission plank.

The Pennsylvania compromise appeared satisfactory to the administration leaders who hurriedly went to the Pennsylvania caucus as it re-assembled.

Postmaster General Brown and Walter Newton, secretary to President Hoover, both appeared in the Pennsylvania conference room.

Climax Parade With Program For Flag Day

Life of Washington Discussed by James H. McGillan of Green Bay

Kaukauna — Flag Day and the George Washington bi-centennial anniversary were observed here Tuesday with a general display of flags in the business and residential sections, and a parade and program in the evening. The event was staged under auspices of the Elks lodge and the American Legion post. R. H. McCarty of the Elks lodge handled the general arrangements, assisted by Dale Andrews, post commander of the American Legion.

Starting at the Legion clubrooms on Oak-st at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, the parade wound through the principal streets of the business district, returning to the high school auditorium where a program of songs and talks was given. Leaving the Legion clubrooms, the marchers, led by Harold Engerson, city motorcycle officer, advanced over the Wisconsin-ave bridge to Lawe-st. Here they turned to the right and moved on Lawe-st to Doty-st, Doty-st to Desnoyer-st and then to Wisconsin-ave. Returning, the parade moved over the Lawe-st bridge and along Main-ave to Second-st.

Return to School
From Second-st the groups marched to Crooks-ave to Third-st to Main-ave and back to the high school auditorium on Oak-st. Here the program continued. Included in the parade were Legion firing squad and troops, Boy scouts, high school band, city officials, members of the Elks lodge, and citizens in general.

James H. McGillan of Green Bay gave an address in the high school auditorium. He talked on "The Life and Deeds of George Washington." The program opened with assembly singing of "America," led by William Harwood. This was followed by patriotic songs sung by Melvin Sawyer, John Taylor, W. R. Harwood, music being furnished by the Night Owls orchestra. Boy Scouts gave the pledge to the flag and John Brouche played a bugle solo "To the Colors." The program closed with assembly singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Wisconsin Rapids to Meet Kaukauna Next

Kaukauna — Wisconsin Rapids will invade Kaukauna next Sunday afternoon to give the Electric city baseball nine its first chance to defend its leading position in Fox River Valley league standings. Marty Lamers will work his squad all week in preparation for the fray, which is another milestone for the Kaws in their attempt to repeat their 1931 performance of winning the league pennant. The Kaukauna nine holds one victory over the Wisconsin Rapids aggregation.

MOTORIST FINED $1

Kaukauna — Edgar Fuchs, Milwaukee, was fined $1 and costs in justice court Tuesday morning on a charge of jumping the green light at the intersection of Lawe and Taylor-sts Monday. The arrest was made by Harold Engerson, motorcycle officer, and the fine was paid to Justice N. Schwin.

In Wet Ranks

One of the most earnest anti-prohibition crusaders at the Republican convention in Chicago is Mrs. Archie Roosevelt, daughter-in-law of the late President Theodore Roosevelt. She is shown here at her typewriter, preparing a "wet" speech for delivery over the radio.

Large Rose Bush Draws Attention

Vine Climbs Over Trellis 18 Feet Tall at Kaukauna Home

Kaukauna — An American beauty climbing rose vine at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Treptow on Oviatt-st is attracting attention. The vine is mounted on a trellis 18 feet in height, and stems extend far over the top of the trellis. It is literally covered with buds and flaming red flowers. It was planted in the rear of the Treptow home on Oviatt-st about eight years ago, and in several years had reached the roof of the house. Continuing to grow at a rapid pace, it was soon necessary to build a huge trellis to prevent the vine from breaking.

Each year the number of flowers increased, but two years ago the owners nearly lost the plant when it was attacked by field mice while covered over during the winter. However, it retained its strength and increased several feet in height again this year. There are hundreds of buds and flowers on the vine.

SHIP STOCK JUNE 21

Kaukauna — Kaukauna Livestock Shipping association will make the next shipment from the Third-st stockyards Tuesday, June 21, according to Charles Grode, manager. The association will ship from the stockyards every other Tuesday instead of each week, Mr. Grode said.

Farmers Urged to Boost Production To Get Fall Prices

Proper Care Will Make Poultry Produce Eggs At Right Time

Madison — Careful poultrymen will do all in their power to bring their pullets into laying condition as soon as possible in order to obtain the benefit of fall egg prices, says A. A. Brown, poultry marketing specialist of the department of agriculture and markets.

Frequent moving of colony houses, feed hoppers and waterers to avoid bare spots will help to protect growing stock from disease and internal parasites which retard and stunt growth. Feed hoppers and waterers should also be kept in the shade during the heat of the day as hot weather tends to result in lessened feed consumption on the part of the growing pullets, Mr. Brown says.

Care of pullets next fall will not compensate for lack of care this summer, the specialist declares. Pullets should be kept growing so that light breeds come into production at from five to six months of age and heavier a month older.

Better prices for eggs this coming fall and winter are indicated by present conditions, Mr. Brown explains. Scarcity of money and lack of credit has resulted in a curtailment of egg storage at the time of year when eggs are of the best quality for storage purposes and this situation coupled with extensive losses by egg speculators for the past two seasons has depressed prices at this time and accounts for the continued low price on eggs which the producer is now receiving.

However, continued low prices have stimulated consumption to the extent that storage accumulations of eggs of approximately one-half of what they were last year. Cold storage holdings on June 6 this year were 3,735,461 cases in 35 cities as compared to 6,190,819 cases a year ago.

With current arrivals of eggs decreasing, and with the heavy marketing of laying fowls which took place this spring, indications are that quality eggs should soon show a satisfactory premium, once production is hit by adverse weather conditions.

Hatchery output of baby chicks has been about 15 per cent below normal and this fact coupled with extensive culling and sales of laying fowls indicates an acute shortage of fowls of laying age next fall and a further reason for having well known and matured pullets for the laying season.

Social Items

Kaukauna — Miss Verona Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Weber, 130 Taylor-st, was married to Sylvester Van Schynel, son of Henry Van Schynel, Little Chute, at 8 o'clock Catholic church in Holy Cross. Attendants were Miss Ann Van Himbergen, Kimberly, and Michael Weber, Kaukauna. Miss Irene Landreman was maid of honor, and flowers girls were Joyce Van Schynel and Arlene West. A dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents and covers were laid for 60 guests. A dancing party was held at Rainbow Gardens Tuesday evening.

The couple was to leave Wednesday morning on a trip through upper Wisconsin and Michigan. When they return they will make their home either in Kaukauna or Little Chute.

John Vande Loo was reelected grand knight of the Knights of Columbus lodge No. 1083 at a meeting in the clubrooms on Wisconsin-ave Monday evening. Other officers remained were Harry McAndrews, chancellor; Stanley Schmidt, treasurer; Al Hartzheim, secretary; Cleus Goetzman, warden; Robert Nielsen and Luke Van Lieshout, guards; Frank Geurts, trustee; and N. Haupt, W. T. Sullivan, and L. J. Brenzel, trustees of the building association.

A donation of $25 was authorized for the Boy Scout troop sponsored by the council. The money is to be used in purchasing scout equipment.

The 4-H Club calf of the bank of Kaukauna met Tuesday evening at the home of Russell Huss, route 1, Little Chute. Routine business was transacted.

Several groups held basket picnics in Lawe and Tourist parks here Tuesday afternoon.

Forest Junction Man is Crowned King at Schut

BY W. F. WINSEY

Hollandtown.—As a result of a sharp contest in marksmanship in which two hundred rounds of rifle ammunition were used by 20 rivals, King Rademacher, Forest Junction, was crowned king at the eighty-fifth annual celebration of the St. Francis Schut association here Tuesday.

Immediately after being crowned and clothed in royal regalia, King Rademacher selected Miss Loretta Van Zealand as queen. Following the contest, the crowning of the king, and the choice of a queen, their majesties surrounded by the lords and ladies of the court sat down to a royal dinner in the Van Abel hotel.

From 2 o'clock in the afternoon older members of the schut association and their friends from the villages and country side mingled and danced.

The schut celebration is one of the big events of the year in Hollandtown and always draws large crowds.

King Rademacher besides winning the crown, the royal robes won twenty-five dollars in cash and the right to adorn himself with the trophies of his famous predecessors of the past 85 years.

Wooden Bird Target
The target used in the shooting contest was a large bird resembling a sea gull carved from the gnarled stump of an elm tree. The target was perched on top of a flag staff 30 feet from the ground. The rifle-men formed a circle about the flag staff about 50 feet in diameter and shot in turn. The king prize was awarded to the shooter who brought down the last splinter of the bird. Other prizes were awarded as follows: first prize to Ben. Van De Yacht for bringing down a wing; second to John Van Abel for bringing down the head; and third prize to Joseph Jansen for dislodging the tail.

Two of the best marksmen in the group, making clean records or records without a miss, were Miss Marie Regenfuss, the trap shooter of Kaukauna, and her niece, Miss Marie Regenfuss. Their accurate marksmanship made the young ladies the center of attraction during the contest. Whenever a hit was made, it was announced by

Van's Buffets Defeated

In Softball, 8 to 7

Kaukauna.—Falling in a last inning rally which netted three runs, Van's Buffets lost an 8 to 7 decision to the Mereness Transfers on the school diamond Tuesday evening. It was the seventh loss for the Buffets in city softball league competition. Kalupa Bakers took a 4 to 2 victory from the Eagles on the playgrounds. Wednesday evening's games will show Kalupa Bakers versus Weyenberg's Meats, and Ludtke's Specials versus Van's Buffets.

Legion Junior Nine

Meets Appleton Today

Kaukauna.—Kaukauna's American Legion junior baseball team will meet the Appleton Legion juniors in a practice at the Kaukauna ball park Wednesday afternoon. Schuler and Block will perform the heavy duties for the local nine. A squad of more than 40 players has been working out under direction of Fred Olm, Legion athletic director.

Pigeon Club Draws Up Plans for Next Race

Kaukauna.—Discussion of plans for the next club race took place at a meeting of members of the Kaukauna Pigeon club at the home of Edward Reuter on Division-st Tuesday evening. The next race will be held from Britt, Iowa, a distance of 300 miles from the Kaukauna lofts. Pigeons to be entered in the race will be crated at the Chicago Northwestern depot Thursday evening.

So large was the crowd to watch races between 63 "baby" automobiles at Dublin, Irish Free State, recently, that another miniature car meet will be held.
